County Wheat Harvest Is In Full Swing

Record Yields Are Reported by Many Farmers in Area

Wheat harvest operations in Pickaway County are in full swing. Although the first load of wheat was brought into the Pickaway Grain Co. elevator on June 25, most of the 350,000 bushels handled by the firm this season has been brought in since Saturday.

Dry weather is speeding the harvest at the present time, according to Richard Bowers, Pickaway Grain manager.

"It looks like the average yield per acre is going to be the biggest ever harvested in the county," Bowers said today.

"SOME FARMERS are talking about yields of 60 bushels and more, many say their yields will surpass 50 and practically everybody reports their average is in excess of 40 bushels.

"If anybody has less than 40 bushels per acre, they aren't saying anything about it," Bowers said.

Bowers said the quality of the wheat is very good. The cool, damp weather experienced this spring is generally associated with various fungus infections of wheat but apparently had little effect on the quality this year, according to the grain company manager.

The tremendous yields seem to be general throughout the state, he reported.

Officials in the grain trade attribute the bumper crop largely to a combination of weather factors. The fact there was no freezing and thawing during the winter minimized root damage.

The weather in the spring was favorable to development of the wheat heads.

THE PRICE has held fairly strong in spite of the record yields, according to Bowers. Yesterday the market dropped below $1.70 per bushel for the first time during the season.

Bowers advises farmers to complete their harvest as quickly as possible to take advantage of the more favorable price situation and to avoid possible rains.

"Rain right now could cause a great deal of damage with these heavy yields," Bowers said.

Some of the heavier yields in the county included a 63-bushel average reported by John Stevenson, and a 56-bushel average reported by Billy Huffman, both Wayne Twp. farmers.

A measured two-acre plot on the George Foreman farm produced a total yield of 126 bushels and two pecks.

Soviet, China Leaders Fail Again To Talk

MOSCOW (AP) — Russian and Chinese Communist delegates failed to meet again today for their truce talks as Western observers speculated that further discussion between the Communist giants was futile.

The talks were recessed Thursday and also on Tuesday without explanation. Some informants said the delegates were looking for a face-saving way to end the talks.

The Chinese and Russian negotiators, it was indicated, have not been able to agree even on a basis to begin reconciliation of their bitter dispute of the course that communism should take.

The Chinese proposed 25 points of discussion in a letter June 14 that also attacked Premier Khrushchev's peaceful coexistence policy. The Russians rejected those terms of discussion, precipitating a further airing of charges and counter charges. Peking continued its attack Thursday, throwing doubt on the continued usefulness of the mutual assistance treaty Communist China and the Soviet Union signed in 1950.

PLEASANTLY cool weather most people have been enjoying since July 4th is about to end. The weatherman says the mercury will reach a high of 88-90 today and tomorrow.

PICKAWAY County Sheriff Walton W. Spangler observed today there seemed to be an abnormal number of grass and field fires in the county during the last week. He urged farmers to be exceptionally careful during harvest operations. Several of the fires have occurred in wheat fields.

Although no unharvested grain has been destroyed in any great amount yet, the possibility does exist, he pointed out.

Education Leader Critically Injured

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Thomas G. O'Keefe of suburban Westerville, executive secretary of the Ohio Education Association, remained in critical condition today in University Hospital with leg fractures and possible head injuries.

O'Keefe, 55, suffered leg fractures and possible head injuries when his auto crashed at an entrance to interstate 71 Thursday night.

Police said he had been under treatment for high blood pressure and may have suffered a stroke or seizure which precipitated the crash. His car ran off the entrance ramp and tumbled down a 45-foot embankment in a ditch.

More Indian Lake Riot Cases To Be Heard

RUSSELLS POINT, Ohio (AP) — About 20 of the youths who launched a riot at this Indian Lake Resort July 4 were scheduled to answer charges in Mayor Gene Gooding's court today.

Nearly as many drew fines or forfeited bond for non-appearance Thursday when Gooding began hearing the cases. Forfeitures were as high as $100 and fines reached $50 and $13.90 court costs for those described as ringleaders.

Mississippi Chief Contends Kennedys Sow Hate Seeds

Rail Fact-Finders Open New Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's fact-finding committee goes to work today on a new study of the railroad labor dispute.

Its object: To sift the facts in the four-year-old fight over new work rules and have a report ready for the President by July 20. The report will serve as the basis of legislative recommendations Kennedy plans to make to Congress July 22, a week before a truce expires for a threatened nationwide rail strike.

Thursday night, a high government source said it is a fair conclusion that the legislation would involve some form of arbitration—the expectation in government circles since the dispute began building to a head.

Members of the special panel haven't ruled out the possibility of playing a mediator's role if the opportunity arises. But the chairman, Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, tends to the view that there is little likelihood of mediation by a panel member in the short time allotted for completion of the report.

At a 90-minute organizational meeting Thursday, Wirtz emphasized there will be no attempt at mediation by the committee as a whole. As to the possibility that he or another member will act as a mediator, Wirtz' attitude is understood to be "let's wait and see."

The railroads have agreed to postpone at least until July 29 changes in the manning of trains that will gradually eliminate some 65,000 jobs. Five operating unions representing 190,000 workers have pledged to withhold strike action until that date.

By winning this reprieve Wednesday afternoon, Kennedy forestalled a strike that had been scheduled to begin at 12:01 a.m. Thursday.

Wirtz is pictured as having a firm conviction that between July 22 and 29 it is possible to get legislation dealing with the situation through what is regarded as a reluctant congress.

At a news conference Thursday, House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana served notice that "Congress is not going to be stampeded into any action that is not justified."

However, Halleck added, this does not mean that Congress could not act expeditiously.

Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, Senate Republican leader, who appeared with Halleck at the session with the press, said "there is no reason in the world" why the Senate Labor Committee should not start hearings at once to prepare for possible legislative action.

Thursday's panel session, with four members and representatives of the carriers and unions present, concerned staff selections and which material should be assembled first for panel usage.

Besides Wirtz, the members present were AFL-CIO President George Meany, Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges and Stuart Saunders, president of the Norfolk & Western Railway.

George Harrison, an AFL-CIO president and president of the Railway and Steamship Clerks, is expected to join them today. The sixth member of the panel, Joseph Block, board chairman of Inland Steel Co. of Chicago, is on a western trip and isn't expected to be on hand.

Ohio Assembly Shuts Up Shop Until Dec. 2

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's General Assembly has closed shop until Dec. 2.

Instead of taking the usual final adjournment at the end of regular work Thursday, both houses recessed the session that convened Jan. 7.

Leaders said the recess placed the legislature in position to implement a $250 million capital improvements bond issue proposal, if approved at the polls in November.

Legislators also plan a study of Ohio's welfare program looking to possible reorganization of administration and financing at both state and local levels after the recess.

They said the study would include proposals to qualify Ohio for participation in a federal program for Aid to Dependent Children of the Unemployed (ADCU), which failed to get anywhere during the regular session.

Another study possibility advanced was state redistricting. The governor's Little Hoover Commission, now surveying state government operations, may have some recommendations for consideration, they added.

The legislature completed major work June 28 but returned Wednesday for a two-day cleanup session.

On the final day, lawmakers approved additional common pleas judges for several counties and re-voted and passed a previously defeated bill appropriating nearly $1 million to pay sundry claims against the state, which cannot be sued.

Cuyahoga county received two additional judges. Counties getting one more judge each were Clermont, Lake, Lucas, Licking, Hamilton, Trumbull and Montgomery.

Enactment of the Sundry Claims Bill followed Senate refusal to delete a $32,000 tax refund to the Cincinnati Traction Co., and $1,829 to make good penitentiary inmate earnings embezzled from a fund by a fellow convict.

They also made a $14,000 award for University Hospital bills of Eldon L. Barnett, East Liverpool, a prisoner injured while working in a state park.

Lost for lack of support were administration-backed measures to increase the state's liquor tax.

12-Story Dorm Ordered by OSU

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio State University's Board of Trustees today gave approval for construction plans of Drackett Tower, first of three 12-story residence halls to be built on the north edge of the campus.

The $2.5 million structure will house 870 men. Bids are to be received in August. It will be the eighth to go up in OSU's growing north dormitory complex where $15 million in construction is planned. It was named in memory of the late Harry R. Drackett of Cincinnati, OSU alumnus.

Barnett Sees Revolt by 100 Million Whites

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mississippi Gov. Ross R. Barnett today accused President Kennedy and his brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, of "sowing the seeds of hate and violence."

He said that if the civil rights measures they have proposed are enacted, "the nation could reap a bloody harvest."

"Gentlemen," he told the Senate Commerce Committee, "if you pass this civil rights legislation, you are passing it under the threat of mob action and violence on the part of Negro groups and under various types of intimidation from the executive branch of this government."

Barnett testified before a crowd that overflowed the Senate's big caucus room. He was the first of a group of Southern governors who asked to be heard on the President's proposed ban on discrimination in public accommodations.

Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama is to testify on Monday and Gov. Donald Russell of South Carolina on Tuesday. Gov. Farris Bryant of Florida is a prospective witness later in the month.

Barnett was about 40 minutes late for the hearing. He and the other Southern governors were called at the request of Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-SC., a vigorous opponent of the bill to ban racial discrimination by stores, restaurants, hotels and other privately-owned establishments serving the public.

"The intent of this legislation is to steal away the fundamental rights of a man to own and manage his private property as he sees fit," Barnett testified. "What we are about to experience in our nation today is tyranny of the mob."

The governor said that when the average citizen finds out exactly what is in the proposed legislation, "turmoil will really break loose in this nation."

"If you think 500,000 Negroes marching on Washington is something," he said, "pass this legislation."

Father, Son Convicted in Stock Fraud

NEW YORK (AP) — The father-son brokerage team of Gerardo A. Re and Gerard Re was convicted Thursday of a stock fraud conspiracy in which, the government said, the public was bilked of $5 million.

A jury of 10 men and two women deliberated four hours in arriving at their verdict of guilty on all counts against the Res, Charles A. Grande, Ely Batkin, and Jacob Yaffee.

U.S. Dist. Court Judge Dudley B. Bonsal set Sept. 10 for sentencing.

Defense attorneys said they would appeal.

Re, 67, and his son, 40, were charged with having rigged the market on the American Stock Exchange to facilitate the high-pressure sale of $10-million worth of common stock of the Swan-Finch Oil Corp. from 1954 to 1957.

Grande, 68, a retired horse trainer, was charged as serving as an agent, while Batkin, 46, former head of now defunct brokerage firm, and Yaffee, 56, former stock broker, were accused of operating illicitly as brokers.

Each of the defendants could receive a maximum of five years' imprisonment and be fined $10,000.

Phone Books Delivered, But They're Outdated

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Telephone Co. today completed delivery of 5-million pounds of phone books to Manhattan subscribers. Already the book is out of date.

The listings change at the rate of 1,000 per day. A telephone company spokesman said the 1963-64 edition lacked 50,000 new listings. Separate books are issued for each of the city's four other boroughs.

Tippling Ecuador President Ousted

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — A military junta ruled Ecuador today after exiling President Carlos Arosemena. The junta said he "was frequently drunk, spotted the national honor and sympathized with communism."

(A Quito radio report heard in Colombia said five persons were killed and three wounded when army tank fired on a crowd stoning members of the junta as they entered the government palace to take office.)

A military spokesman said Arosemena, a known tippler, disgraced himself by getting drunk at a banquet Wednesday night in honor of the president of the Grace Lines, retired U.S. Adm. Wilfred McNeil.

Guests at the reception said the president shouted abuse at U.S. Ambassador Maurice Bernbaum, vomited in front of the gathering and committed "even more indecorous acts."

Thursday morning the chiefs of the three armed branches met with the commander of the Quito garrison and decided to depose Arosemena. Eight tanks and truckloads of soldiers surrounded the presidential palace about 2 p.m.

Arosemena refused to resign and named his brother Gustavo as defense minister in an effort to rally the armed forces against the uprising. Friends of the 44-year-old president who were in the besieged palace said he was still drunk.

The situation remained in doubt for several hours until provincial commanders began to send messages of support for the rebel chiefs.

In the Pacific Ocean port of Guayaquil, 170 miles southwest of Quito, there were a few attempts to organize street demonstrations in favor of Arosemena, but all were broken up. Some machine-gun volleys were fired into the air.

A military spokesman said Arosemena resigned after receiving guarantees for his personal safety and that of his family.

The junta said elections would be held as soon as possible and that it had received messages of support from all political parties and all units of the armed forces.

The military sent Arosemena to Panama aboard an Ecuadorian Air Force plane. He said on his arrival in Panama "I have not resigned," and went to a hotel without further comment. Ecuadorian army officers accompanying him said he would inform Panamanian authorities whether he planned to stay on push onward.

There were various reports on the makeup of the junta. One broadcast said Col. Andres Arrata Macias was at the head with three other colonels as members.

Another broadcast identified the service chiefs—Army Col. Luis Cabrera Sevilla, Navy Capt. Ramon Fausto Jijon and Air Force Col. Guillermo Freile Posso — as leaders of the revolt.

Pennsy Halts Search for Boys in Mine

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Weary rescue workers emerged from an abandoned coal mine today after an all-night search and said they found no trace of three missing teenaged boys believed lost inside.

T.J. McDonald, assistant district supervisor for the U.S. Bureau of Mines, ordered the hunt suspended temporarily. He said, "If the boys do not show by this afternoon, we are going to press our search even further."

However, he added: "If they were there, we would have found them by now."

McDonald said rescuers had searched every part of the mine that was accessible, covering an estimated 1,200-square foot area. One section of the mine is filled with water, but McDonald said a heavy scum on the surface had not been disturbed.

Bicycles of the boys, identified as Billy Berk, 13; Danny O'Kain, 13; and Robert Abbott, 14, were found about 20 feet from the mine mouth. The entrance, previously sealed with brick and wire mesh, had been torn open.

Railroad Loses Gear Retrieved from Space

LONDON (AP) — Britain's state-owned railway system has mislaid research equipment safely retrieved from space, a scientist complained Thursday.

Dr. R. C. Jennison of the Loddrell Bank Observatory said the equipment was in a rocket fired from the Woomera Range in Australia June 5.

The equipment was recovered, flown to London and handed to the state railway system for the 160-mile journey to Jodrell Bank. The consignment last was heard of June 12, Jennison said.

Rail Fact-Finders Open New Study

Birns Claims Tight Alibi in Slaying Probe

CLEVELAND (AP) — Alex (Shondor) Birns has told authorities he had no contact with Mervin Gold on the night Gold was slain and that he has an alibi witness to prove his story.

The widow of Gold, a financial promoter who used stolen Canadian bonds as bank loan security, had informed police her husband left their Pepper Pike home last Friday night, a few hours before his death, to meet Birns, 58-year-old longtime Cleveland racketeer figure.

"Shondor says that, despite what Mrs. Gold said about Mervin leaving the house that night to keep an appointment with Birns, he never saw Gold at all that night," Sheriff James J. McGarrick said Thursday.

Gold's body, trussed in a ragged pink blanket, was found in the trunk of his parked car on Chagrin River Road in suburban Solon last Monday night. Coroner Samuel R. Gerber said he believed the killing had taken place elsewhere on Friday night. Gerber said an inquest for 9 a.m. next Wednesday at the Lakeside Avenue Courthouse and both Birns and Mrs. Gold were subpoenaed to appear, along with "some other persons," Gerber said. The coroner set a $50,000 bond to guarantee Birns' appearance at the inquest.

Ohio Assembly Shuts Up Shop Until Dec. 2

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's General Assembly has closed up shop until Dec. 2.

Instead of taking the usual final adjournment at the end of regular work Thursday, both houses recessed the session that convened Jan. 7.

U.S. Dist. Court Judge Dudley B. Bonsal set Sept. 10 for sentencing.

Defense attorneys said they would appeal.

Re, 67, and his son, 40, were charged with having rigged the market on the American Stock Exchange to facilitate the high pressure sale of $10-million worth of common stock of the Swan-Finch Oil Corp. from 1954 to 1957.

Grande, 68, a retired horse trainer, was charged as serving as an agent, while Batkin, 46, former head of now defunct brokerage firm, and Yaffee, 56, former stock broker, were accused of operating illicitly as brokers.

Each of the defendants could receive a maximum of five years imprisonment and be fined $10,000.

Phone Books Delivered, But They're Outdated

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Telephone Co. today completed delivery of 5-million pounds of phone books to Manhattan subscribers. Already the book is out of date.

The listings change at the rate of 1,000 per day. A telephone company spokesman said the 1963-64 edition lacked 50,000 new listings.

Separate books are issued for each of the city's four other boroughs.

Tippling Ecuador President Ousted

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — A military junta ruled Ecuador today after exiling President Carlos Arosemena. The junta said he "was frequently drunk, spotted the national honor and sympathized with communism."

(A Quito radio report heard in Colombia said five persons were killed and three wounded when army tank fired on a crowd stoning members of the junta as they entered the government palace to take office.)

A military spokesman said Arosemena, a known tippler, disgraced himself by getting drunk at a banquet Wednesday night in honor of the president of the Grace Lines, retired U.S. Adm. Wilfred McNeil.

Guests at the reception said the president shouted abuse at U.S. Ambassador Maurice Bernbaum, vomited in front of the

Khrush-Kadar Talks Studied

Hungarian 'Hard Fist' Rule Seen Evaluated

MOSCOW (AP) — The eyes of the world are on the conference in Moscow between the Soviet and Chinese Communists.

But Premier Khrushchev and Janos Kadar of Hungary are holding talks in the Kremlin simultaneously that could decide the fate of the fragile Communist experiment in relaxing "hard fist" rule.

The Soviet news agency Tass said Khrushchev and Kadar Thursday discussed the "achievements of Hungary's national economy and the moral and political unity of the Hungarian people."

It said they "also spoke of plans for the further economic and cultural progress of the country."

The Tass report hinted that the ideological dispute between the Soviet Union and Red China also figured in the talks.

But the attention of Western observers was drawn to the references to the moral and political unity and the cultural progress of Hungary.

Kadar is believed to have come to Moscow to plead the case for his liberalization policies aimed at winning support from the non-Communist majority of the Hungarian people.

In the past year, Kadar has kicked notorious Stalinists out of top jobs in the party and government.

Loosened the tight rein on Hungary's sullen intellectuals and artists.

Negotiated with the Vatican for a thaw in relations with the Catholic Church and for the release of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty.

Granted amnesty to about 10,000 Freedom Fighters of 1956 and political prisoners.

And warmed up frozen relations with the United States.

Riotous Royal Visit Is Ended

LONDON (AP) — King Paul and Queen Frederika of Greece left by plane for Athens today after a turbulent four-day state visit marked by violent demonstrations.

There was no sign of demonstrators either at Buckingham Palace or at London airport.

Disturbances marking the royal visit continued Thursday night. Police clashed with demonstrators trying to march on Claridges Hotel where the Greek couple gave a farewell banquet for Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip.

The demonstrations were organized by the "Committee of 100," a ban-the-bomb group which demands liberation of nearly 1,000 prisoners held since the 1947-49 Communist uprising in Greece. Demonstrators claim these are political prisoners. The Greek government says they were convicted of such crimes as murder and treason.

gathering and committed "even more indecorous acts."

Thursday morning the chiefs of the three armed branches met with the commander of the Quito garrison and decided to depose Arosemena. Eight tanks and truckloads of soldiers surrounded the presidential palace about 2 p.m.

Arosemena refused to resign and named his brother Gustavo as defense minister in an effort to rally the armed forces against the uprising. Friends of the 44-year-old president who were in the besieged palace said he was still drunk.

The situation remained in doubt for several hours until provincial commanders began to send messages of support for the rebel chiefs.

In the Pacific Ocean port of Guayaquil, 170 miles southwest of Quito, there were a few attempts to organize street demonstrations in favor of Arosemena, but all were broken up. Some machine-gun volleys were fired into the air.

A military spokesman said Arosemena resigned after receiving guarantees for his personal safety and that of his family.

The junta said elections would be held as soon as possible and that it had received messages of support from all political parties and all units of the armed forces.

The military sent Arosemena to Panama aboard an Ecuadorian Air Force plane. He said on his arrival in Panama "I have not resigned," and went to a hotel without further comment. Ecuadorian army officers accompanying him said he would inform Panamanian authorities whether he planned to stay on push onward.

There were various reports on the makeup of the junta. One broadcast said Col. Andres Arrata Macias was at the head with three other colonels as members.

Another broadcast identified the service chiefs—Army Col. Luis Cabrera Sevilla, Navy Capt. Ramon Fausto Jijon and Air Force Col. Guillermo Freile Posso — as leaders of the revolt.

Pennsy Halts Search for Boys in Mine

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Weary rescue workers emerged from an abandoned coal mine today after an all-night search and said they found no trace of three missing teenage boys believed lost inside.

T.J. McDonald, assistant district supervisor for the U.S. Bureau of Mines, ordered the hunt suspended temporarily. He said, "If the boys do not show by this afternoon, we are going to press our search even further."

However, he added: "If they were there, we would have found them by now."

McDonald said rescuers had searched every part of the mine that was accessible, covering an estimated 1,200-square foot area. One section of the mine is filled with water, but McDonald said a heavy scum on the surface had not been disturbed.

Bicycles of the boys, identified as Billy Berk, 13; Danny O'Kain, 13; and Robert Abbott, 14, were found about 20 feet from the mine mouth. The entrance, previously sealed with brick and wire mesh, had been torn open.

Railroad Loses Gear Retrieved from Space

LONDON (AP) — Britain's state-owned railway system has mislaid research equipment saved retrieved from space, a scientist complained Thursday.

Dr. R. C. Jennison of the Loddrell Bank Observatory said the equipment was in a rocket fired from the Woomera Range in Australia June 5. The equipment was recovered, flown to London and handed to the state railway system for the 160-mile journey to Jodrell Bank. The consignment last was heard of June 12, Jennison said.

Citizens Committee Reviews Facts on School Bond Issue

Factors, questions, comments, and suggestions relative to a Circleville school building bond issue were taken under study last night when members of a Citizens Committee met at the high school.

Approximately 57 persons were present for a review of the proposal. Jack Clifton, chairman of the Citizens Committee, and Superintendent of Schools, Fritz Jacobs explained all phases of the building program as they are known to date.

Due to a voter decision on the November ballot, the bond issue would provide $1,828,000 to meet school building needs here. If approved, it basically would allow for a new three-year high school and eliminate three older elementary buildings — those at Franklin St., High St. and Walnut St.

In the same token, a new high school would pave the way for a junior high school in the present high school building which would house students in grades 7, 8 and 9. Placing seventh graders in the junior high buildings would eliminate the need for the Walnut St. building, making it possible for S. Court St. School to accommodate these students.

A NEW six-classroom building would replace High St. School on the existing site. Improvement at the Franklin-Mound site would eliminate the old Franklin building.

Both Jacobs and Clifton strived to explain the need for a building program. Crowded conditions which exist now — and which are projected to grow in the future — and old elementary buildings that are extremely difficult to maintain were cited as main reasons for submitting the bond issue.

Both spokesmen pointed out that the City Board of Education has made every effort to come up with a program that is economically feasible and still within minimum needs. They emphasized that the entire project planning has been centered around, and is deprived from, an adequate educational program for the city's students.

Last night's session was reserved mostly to an informational period in which Clifton, Jacobs and members of the Board of Education attempted to present all known facts and gather related comments.

The spokesmen said all efforts will be made to keep the Citizens Committee, as well as the entire public, informed of the building program as it progresses.

Stock Prices Slightly Higher

NEW YORK (AP) — Oils were strong in a mixed stock market which showed a slightly higher edge early this afternoon. Trading was moderate.

Gains and losses of key stocks were mainly fractional, with a few going to a point or so.

The oils seemed to be responding to a resumption of investment demand as well as to talk in Wall Street about various discoveries.

Big three motors were all down fractionally.

News items helped some of the "glamour" issues which picked up 1 to 3 points. The market as a whole, however, remained cautious and seemed to lack incentive for a sharp move either way.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was 70.2 at 271.9 with industrials up .4, rails off .3, and utilities up .4.

The Dow Jones industrial average also posted a modest gain, rising .30 to 710.06 at noon.

tion and you'll find out what 100-million angry white Americans will do."

Barnett contended the proposed legislation was so sweeping that "it has been termed by many as the 'white slave bill'."

He said Atty. Gen. Kennedy had contended passage of the measure would remove from the streets to the courts the controversy over equal access to places of accommodations, but he declared he questioned that.

"The attorney general has been personally responsible for helping to put mobs in the streets," Barnett said, "and I can prophesy that this legislation, if enacted, will put hundreds of thousands of white business men in the streets."

He maintained that passage of the bill would mean the end of constitutional government in America and would "result in racial violence of unimaginable scope."

Barnett said that both the President and the attorney general "have encouraged demonstrations, freedom rides, sit-ins, picketing and actual violation of local laws."

He added that what is happening in the nation fits the pattern of what is happening throughout the world insofar as Communist activity is concerned and said it is obvious the agitation and strife is "largely Communist-inspired."

U.S., British Aides Briefed On Test Ban

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Macmillan today filled in U.S. and British delegates to the Moscow test ban talks on Premier Khrushchev's latest views on nuclear and other urgent problems.

Macmillan was briefed by Soviet Ambassador Alexander Soloviev Thursday night and passed on the information to the U.S. and British delegation chiefs, W. Averell Harriman and Lord Hailsham, at lunch.

It was part of the intensive preparation the two are undergoing in preparation for the Moscow talks expected to begin Monday. British informants said the information brought by Soloviev was cause for neither optimism nor pessimism.

Harriman and Hailsham have authority to negotiate on only one subject — a nuclear test ban. But they have been authorized to listen, and obviously rush the word to President Kennedy and Macmillan on anything else the Russians bring up.

This could include a nonaggression pact between the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the Warsaw Pact nations as well as the always-active Berlin question.

Castro Denies U.S. Grand Cayman Rap; Islanders Angry

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Fidel Castro regime has denied U.S. charges that it is sending potential subversive agents into Latin America by way of the British Caribbean island of Grand Cayman.

A Havana broadcast monitored here said today the Cuban Foreign Ministry has issued a communique rejecting the U.S. contention that airline passengers who journey by way of the small island south of Cuba are Castro agents.

The Miami Herald reported today that angry Grand Cayman islanders refused to let passengers leave a Cubana airliner at Owen Roberts Field at George Town Thursday.

A Californian, commercial fisherman, Claude Gauron, who flew to Miami Thursday, said the plane was surrounded by 10 or 15 automobiles and forced to take off without discharging its passengers.

Old Mountain Feud Is Stilled As Police Kill Father, Son

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP)—A long, bitter feud between two mountain families in West Virginia exploded into a gun battle Thursday when police attempted to serve a warrant at the home of Ernest Moore, near here.

Russian Spy Turns to West

Soviet Intelligence Setup May Be Altered

LONDON (AP)—Defection of a top Russian spy to the West raised speculation today that his flight might force the Soviet Union to revamp its intelligence apparatus.

The British government said the defector, a senior Soviet intelligence officer, was turned over to Britain after weeks of interrogation by the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency in Washington.

The British said he was as important as any defector on either side since World War II.

His identity was kept secret. Officials said he is being held at a secret headquarters in Britain for fear the Russians might try to kidnap or kill him.

"His life is in positive danger," one official said.

An informed source said the Russian contacted an American embassy in an Allied capital after revelations at the Moscow trial of Col. Oleg Penkovsky, a Soviet official shot last May for passing information to the British.

Penkovsky compromised a number of Soviet agents, a move that apparently prompted the Russian now held by the British to defect.

British officials ranked the defector with George Blake, a British double agent who gave the Russians names and locations of British agents and their methods.

The discovery of Blake's treachery forced the British to reorganize their entire intelligence network in the Middle East and Eastern Europe. He was jailed in 1961 for 42 years, the longest sentence for espionage in British history.

Informants said the Russian has given invaluable information on the Soviet espionage methods and its spy network in the West.

Eggs Blamed For Epidemic In 25 States

WASHINGTON (AP)—An epidemic of "Salmonella Derby", an intestinal infection which has hit 700 people in 25 states and the District of Columbia, is drawing new attention from government health agencies.

This was reported today by a Public Health Service spokesman who said "eggs are the suspected cause," but that, up to now, no specific geographic source of the suspected eggs has been defined.

Ten states have reported hospital-associated infections, seven of them in the northeastern United States, says a previously-issued report of the health service's Communicable Disease Center at Atlanta.

"Thirty seven hospitals have been involved, with 10 of these being in Pennsylvania and nine in New York," the report said. "Sixteen patients have died, primarily from other diseases, but have had associated Salmonella derby gastroenteritis."

The health service spokesman said the outbreak was first reported in New York in March, followed soon by reports from Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Massachusetts. He said that in late May, the health departments of Philadelphia and the state of New Jersey issued news releases recommending that no more eggs be served in hospitals.

Ohio Official's Car Kills Man On Freeway

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—An accident that would have been impossible for any motorist to avoid—that's how the Highway Patrol appraises the fatality Thursday night in which Lt. Gov. John W. Brown's car killed a pedestrian.

Brown, fresh from presiding over the final session of the Ohio Senate, was headed home from Columbus toward Medina with his wife when the mishap occurred on Interstate 71 east of here.

According to the patrol, Robert L. Moore, 28, of Rt. 3, Marengo (Morrow County), walked into the path of the lieutenant governor's vehicle.

Moore's auto had stalled down the road and he headed for the interchange with U.S. 36 to seek help at a service station, officers said. Nearing the exit, he started across and was struck.

Patrolmen said Moore was wearing dark clothes and could hardly have been visible at freeway speeds until too late. They also noted that pedestrians are prohibited on the freeway. A driver, with car trouble should raise his hood, sit inside the auto and wait for assistance, they added.

NAACP Hints Picketing On Building Projects

CINCINNATI (AP)—Officials of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored Peoples say they may start picketing federal construction projects Monday because of job discrimination by contractors.

The NAACP officials made the statement Thursday after walking out of a meeting of contractors and city, federal and labor union officials. The walk-out came after the contractors and labor union representatives asked for more time to step up Negro hiring.

MCA Is New Film Power

Hollywood Producers Eye Growth with Awe

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—There's a new landmark in the San Fernando Valley, a charcoal gray tower that is a symbol of hope to both the meek and mighty of movieland.

It is the 15-story MCA building at Universal City, headquarters of an organization that in its short life has set a pace long-entrenched producers eye with awe.

The name—MCA, for Music Corporation of America—is familiar. But the face is different. For decades, as a talent agency and later as the largest producer of filmed television shows, MCA dominated show business. Detractors called it "the octopus."

It was so successful that the federal government went after it as a monopoly. Under a compromise settlement, the octopus shed its largest tentacle—the talent agency—and concentrated on production.

It has set up shop at Universal, a subsidiary and long a major movie producer.

Today, you'd hardly recognize the place, due to change in the past year. Besides the tower, there are three other major buildings planned or building and a multitude of minor improvements.

When MCA founder Jules Stein pounded a golden rivet this week to start construction on multimillion-dollar Universal City plaza, he told the assembled elite: "Universal City will be the entertainment capital of the world."

No one is likely to argue with him. The lot is humming with movie and TV shows in the making. Plans are grandiose, as Hollywood plans invariably are. But in MCA's case, the plans usually come true.

Incentive Payment for Wool Program Is Announced Here

The U. S. Department of Agriculture announced that shorn wool payments for the 1962 Marketing year — to bring the average wool price of 47.7 cents per pound up to the previously announced incentive level of 62 cents per pound under the National Wool Act — will amount to 30 per cent of the dollar returns each producer received from the sale of shorn wool during the year.

This will result in an incentive payment to producers of $30 for every $100 received from the sale of shorn wool during the eighth year of the program. This compares to a payment of $4.50 per $100 of marketings for the 1961 marketing year.

USDA also announced a payment rate of 57 cents per hundredweight on unshorn lambs to compensate for the wool on them. This payment on sales of live lambs that have never been shorn is based on the shorn wool payment and is designed to discourage unusual shearing of lambs before marketing. This payment rate compares to 76 cents per hundred weight for the 1961 marketing year.

The payment rate for mohair will be 3.6 per cent of the dollar returns each producer received from the sale of mohair during the 1962 marketing year. This payment to producers — $3.60 for every $100 received from the sale of mohair — will bring the average mohair price of 71.4 cents per pound up to the previously announced support level of 74 cents per pound.

These will be the first payments on mohair under the National Wool Act as the average prices received by mohair producers during each of the first seven years of the program were above the established support prices.

Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) county offices were to begin making payments soon after July 1. Applications for payment had to be filed with these offices by April 30. The payments will be made on shorn wool, unshorn lambs, and mohair marketed from April 1, 1962, through March 31, 1963.

The wool incentive program was originally authorized by the National Wool Act of 1954. Legislation in 1961 extended the program to cover marketings through March 1966.

The Act directs the Secretary of Agriculture to support the price of shorn wool at an incentive level he finds necessary to encourage the annual production of 300 million pounds of shorn wool. The Act limits cumulative payments to an amount equal to 70 per cent of the duties collected on imports of wool and wool manufacturers since Jan. 1, 1953. Shorn wool production in 1962 was 249 million pounds, five per cent below the 261 million pounds produced in 1961 but nine per cent above the average production of 229 million pounds for the five years before the payment program was initiated in 1955.

The shorn wool payment rate for the 1962 marketing year was determined on the basis of the difference between the national average price of 47.7 cents per pound received by growers for shorn wool sold during the marketing year and the 62 cents per pound incentive level announced for the 1962 marketing year in October 1961. The average price received by growers was announced by the Department June 1 and was based on prices reported by growers in their applications for payment. The wool incentive rate of 30 per cent is the amount needed to bring average returns up to the incentive level of 62 cents per pound.

To determine the wool incentive payment for individual producers, the rate of 30 per cent is applied to the dollar return each producer received for wool after paying marketing charges. The percentage method of payment is designed to encourage producer who gets the best possible price for his wool also gets a higher incentive payment.

The unshorn lamb payment rate is 57 cents per hundredweight is determined on the basis of the average weight of wool per 100 pounds of lamb, the value of lambs wool relative to shorn wool, and average shorn wool incentive payment per pound.

The payment rate of 3.6 per cent for mohair for the 1962 marketing year was determined in a manner similar to the payment rate for shorn wool on the basis of a national average price of 71.4 cents a pound received by growers for mohair sold during the marketing year and the support level of 74 cents a pound.

Deductions of one cent per pound from shorn wool payments and five cents per hundred pounds of live weight from lamb payments will be made for advertising, promotion, and related market development activities on wool and lamb. This self-help program (under Section 708 of the National Wool Act) is carried by the American Sheep Producers Council, Inc., which was established for that purpose. No deductions for advertising and promotion will be made from the payments on mohair.

Through April 1, 1963, payments under the National Wool Act from the 1961 marketing year totaled $56,744,000. Of this, $47,684,000 was paid on shorn wool and $9,060,000 on unshorn lambs. Payment rates for that year were 44.5 per cent on shorn wool and 76 cents per hundredweight on lambs. These rates were based on an average wool price during the 1961 marketing year of 42.9 cents per pound.

The incentive level for shorn wool as announced Oct. 1, 1962 for the current of 1963 marketing year, which includes marketings from April 1 through December 31, 1963, is 62 cents per pound — the same as for each of the preceding years of the program to date.

The current support level for mohair is 76 cents per pound compared to the 74-cent level for the 1962 marketing year.

Program regulations for wool, lambs, and mohair for the current marketing year continue the same as for previous years except that the 1963 marketing year is the 9-month period from April through December. The 1964 marketing year will be the same as the calendar year.

Corvair 700 Club Coupe

The hardest part about parking a Corvair is finding a nickel

That may be a slight overstatement, but such jauntiness comes easily when you're a Corvair owner.

And you can usually back it up—as easily as you can back up a Corvair. You'll find yourself doing that occasionally, if only to adjust the brakes—they're self-adjusting. That's all there is to it, and that's a good example of how delightfully easy Corvair is to own, drive and maintain.

But since we began by talking about driving, let's stick with that awhile. A large factor in the fun of driving a Corvair is the location of its engine in the rear. Why the rear? It gives Corvair extra traction on any road surface. It provides a nearly flat floor for more useable interior space. Best of all, it produces steering so light, so responsive, you wonder why no other American-made car thought of it.

Corvair's engine is also air cooled, we might add, which means there's no antifreeze or water for you to add. Ever.

All that pleasure from something so practical almost makes you think Corvair is unique among American cars. Which isn't surprising, because it is!

Eggs Blamed For Epidemic In 25 States

WASHINGTON (AP)—An epidemic of "Salmonella Derby", an intestinal infection which has hit 700 people in 25 states and the District of Columbia, is drawing new attention from government health agencies.

This was reported today by a Public Health Service spokesman who said "eggs are the suspected cause," but that, up to now, no specific geographic source of the suspected eggs has been defined.

Ten states have reported hospital-associated infections, seven of them in the northeastern United States, says a previously-issued report of the health service's Communicable Disease Center at Atlanta.

"Thirty seven hospitals have been involved, with 10 of these being in Pennsylvania and nine in New York," the report said. "Sixteen patients have died, primarily from other diseases, but have had associated Salmonella derby gastroenteritis."

The health service spokesman said the outbreak was first reported in New York in March, followed soon by reports from Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Massachusetts. He said that in late May, the health departments of Philadelphia and the state of New Jersey issued news releases recommending that no more eggs be served in hospitals.

Ohio Official's Car Kills Man On Freeway

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—An accident that would have been impossible for any motorist to avoid—that's how the Highway Patrol appraises the fatality Thursday night in which Lt. Gov. John W. Brown's car killed a pedestrian.

Brown, fresh from presiding over the final session of the Ohio Senate, was headed home from Columbus toward Medina with his wife when the mishap occurred on Interstate 71 east of here.

According to the patrol, Robert L. Moore, 28, of Rt. 3, Marengo (Morrow County), walked into the path of the lieutenant governor's vehicle.

Moore's auto had stalled down the road and he headed for the interchange with U.S. 36 to seek help at a service station, officers said. Nearing the exit, he started across and was struck.

Patrolmen said Moore was wearing dark clothes and could hardly have been visible at freeway speeds until too late. They also noted that pedestrians are prohibited on the freeway. A driver, with car trouble should raise his hood, sit inside the auto and wait for assistance, they added.

NAACP Hints Picketing On Building Projects

CINCINNATI (AP)—Officials of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored Peoples say they may start picketing federal construction projects Monday because of job discrimination by contractors.

The NAACP officials made the statement Thursday after walking out of a meeting of contractors and city, federal and labor union officials. The walk-out came after the contractors and labor union representatives asked for more time to step up Negro hiring.

MCA Is New Film Power

Hollywood Producers Eye Growth with Awe

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—There's a new landmark in the San Fernando Valley, a charcoal gray tower that is a symbol of hope to both the meek and mighty of movieland.

It is the 15-story MCA building at Universal City, headquarters of an organization that in its short life has set a pace long-entrenched producers eye with awe.

The name—MCA, for Music Corporation of America—is familiar. But the face is different. For decades, as a talent agency and later as the largest producer of filmed television shows, MCA dominated show business. Detractors called it "the octopus."

It was so successful that the federal government went after it as a monopoly. Under a compromise settlement, the octopus shed its largest tentacle—the talent agency—and concentrated on production.

It has set up shop at Universal, a subsidiary and long a major movie producer.

Today, you'd hardly recognize the place, due to change in the past year. Besides the tower, there are three other major buildings planned or building and a multitude of minor improvements.

When MCA founder Jules Stein pounded a golden rivet this week to start construction on multimillion-dollar University City plaza, he told the assembled elite: "Universal City will be the entertainment capital of the world."

No one is likely to argue with him. The lot is humming with movie and TV shows in the making. Plans are grandiose, as Hollywood plans invariably are. But in MCA's case, the plans usually come true.

Traffic Safety Measures Due To Help Ohioans

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The lives of many Ohioans will be saved because of traffic safety measures enacted this year by the General Assembly. State Highway Safety Director Warren C. Nelson says. The Business World

NEW YORK (AP)—The consumer remains as hard for the experts to figure as ever.

He buys when they think he should be saving his money for a rainy day and he refrains from going on a buying spree when they expect him to because of all the prosperity talk.

On the other hand the consumer has given the auto industry two straight years of good sales. According to the text books that's most unlikely.

On the other hand total retail sales, including car purchases, have dropped a bit for three straight months.

By the rules—which the consumer apparently hasn't bothered to memorize — retail sales should have gone on rising, because the total of personal incomes has been climbing to consecutive record levels.

With more money in their pockets many consumers have found something else to do with it than run down to the store or dealer.

This is almost as hard for the experts to explain as the consumer's calm continuance of spending during the 1960 recession when he should have been frightened and retrenching.

This unpredictable element is tough on the planners who would like to plot, and steer, a course for the economy.

Also upsetting to them just now is that some of the seasonal patterns aren't being followed in other sections of the economy.

The general outlook remains good, but some things are lagging when they should be advancing.

One is the factory hiring rate. The Labor Department says this edged up to 39 per 1,000 employees in May from 38 in April. This increase is smaller than seasonal. The lag came when many industries were increasing production and most business statistics were taking on a much healthier glow.

This helped drop the layoff rate to 14 per 1,000 employees from 16 in April. This was about in line with season trends. But many had hoped for a greater dip because of increased industrial activity.

By Sam Dawson

The Circleville Herald, Fri. July 12, 1963

Red Sincerity Doubtful

By John Chamberlain

Undersecretary of State Averell Harriman has departed for Moscow where discussions about a nuclear test ban are scheduled to take place. Harriman was to break his trip with a stopover in London, just to clear the decks with the British, who will also be in on the Moscow deliberations.

Whatever the hopes for the Harriman mission may be, he is certainly not going to Moscow "cold." For the most complicated system of wigwagging between Kennedy and Khrushchev has been going on for months. The wigwagging, on the part of the U.S., has had considerable down-the-line support in circles that have their effect on policy recommendations that are fed into the White House.

There is, for example, the drive among academic intellectuals for "containing," not the Soviet Union, but the people who advocate containing the Soviet Union. One of the leaders of this movement is David Reisman, the Henry Ford II Professor of Social Science at Harvard, who, in some reflections that have been printed in a newsletter of the Council for Correspondence, has suggested "that it may be easier in the short run to contain the Soviet Union than to contain our own allies or the American energies mobilized behind the Cold War."

Professor Reisman holds up his hands in horror at American theorists such as Thomas Schelling, Herman Kahn and Henry Kissinger who "think in terms of deterring the Russians and not the Americans."

The Reisman type of anti-Communism crops up in a document prepared by Walter Millis of the Fund for the Republic, who is quoted as saying, "Whether we admit it to ourselves or not, we benefit enormously from the capability of the Soviet police system to keep law and order over the 200-million-odd Russians and the many additional millions in the satellite states. The break-up of the Russian communist empire today would doubtless be conducive to freedom, but would be a good deal more catastrophic for world order than was the break-up of the Austro-Hungarian Empire in 1918."

On the journalistic front, the phrase, "Opening to the East," appears in some of the dispatches that speculate on the probable course of Vatican policy under the new Pope, Paul VI.

The wigwagging for an "opening to the East" was a most pronounced part of President Kennedy's now famous June 10 address at American University in Washington, D. C.

Subsequently, in a speech to the Germans in West Berlin, Kennedy turned his sights around to inveigh against those who put their trust in cooperation with the Communists. "There are some who say," he said, "that Communism is the wave of the future. . . There are some who say, 'We can work with the Communists.' Let them come to Berlin!" But, just a little later at the Free University of Berlin, our travelling President counselled playing down the Cold War "Peaceful reunification of Germany," he said, "will not be quick." And, with a wigwag to Khrushchev, he finished off by saying, "Let us deal with the realities as they actually are."

What does all this wigwagging mean in terms of what the West may be prepared to offer the Russians in Moscow for an effective atomic test ban agreement? Apparently Khrushchev thinks he can parley the wigwags into a combination of deals. First, there would be a test ban that would cover everything but underground testing. Then there would be a non-aggression pact between the NATO governments and the Soviet satellites who subscribe to the Warsaw Treaty. As a sweetener for such a combination of deals, which would effectively recognize the legitimacy of all the Communist stogie governments of East Europe, Khrushchev might agree to taking the Cuban clothes off his soldiers in Cuba and repatriating them in bona fide Russian dress to the Soviet Union.

Well, this columnist is a peaceful soul at heart, and he doesn't relish swallowing strontium 90 from atomic fall-out in his milk. But as Castro Communists continue to bomb oil pipe-lines in Venezuela, he doubts that any sincerity can be expected from Communists. If a test ban is momentarily to Khrushchev's advantage, the Russians will sign it. It is not the test ban that we must fear, but what may be piled on top of it in the shape of concessions that will take the heart out of anti-Communists everywhere.

Summer Brings Tale of Woe

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—In summer the average business office becomes a kind of refuge for the walking wounded.

People go gladly to work then because it is the only place they know where they can enjoy air-conditioned safety and escape the dangers of home and leisure.

Weekends are the worst of all. The results show up on Monday, when most swivel chairs are unmanned because their usual occupants through the company doctor's office.

Here are a few typical summer casualties and their tales of woe:

"Doc," says the personnel manager, handing him a small package, "I dozed while cutting the grass and fell off my power mower, and the darned thing ran over me, from head to foot.

"I think my hair will grow back alright, but what about my right big toe? Do you think it's too late to sew it back on?"

The office boy walks in like a bowlegged cowboy.

"Spent the weekend racing my motor bike," he tells the medic. "What's good for saddle sores?"

Sally Primrose, the secretary, went on a picnic—and now she has red-rimmed, weeping eyes and can't stop sneezing.

"All I did—kerchoo!!—was to bend down and smell a wildflower," she explains, "and now I've got—kerchoo!!—this terrible attack of hay fever. What can you do for me?"

"Gesundheit!" says the doctor helpfully.

The line of sufferers snaps to attention as the boss, shamefaced, enters with a heavily bandaged right hand. Their ears go up as they hear him bark behind the doctor's closed door:

"I hit the ball off the third tee, and it landed in the rough. Just between us, Doc, I reached down to toss it to a better lie—we were playing for two bucks a hole—and I guess that's when I picked up this poison ivy. But don't let those jerks outside know what happened or I'll never hear the last of it."

"I thought it was going to have a happy ending until the cavalry came."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

When a new group of workers of an industrial engineering project were first given the responsibility of transporting sticks of dynamite, they respected the potential danger of this assignment. The dynamite was passed gently and carefully from hand to hand.

Within a few days the constant handling made the dynamite lose its terror and the sticks were virtually tossed from one man to another with apparent abandon. Repeated use made the men disregard the hazards of the commodity with which they were dealing.

In every field of endeavor, the appreciation of the intrinsic danger of a product is often minimized by its constant use.

This is exactly what has occurred with the use and abuse of the tranquilizing drugs. These excellent drugs are being used so promiscuously that the very peaceful repose they induce further beludges their possibilities of danger.

Ten years ago, reserpine and chlorpromazine were first introduced and soon became valued drugs for the control of certain emotional illnesses. These tranquilizing drugs dramatically changed despair into hope for thousands of mentally sick patients who might have been condemned to a life-time of hospitalization. Many of these patients have been returned to society as productive and happy human beings.

The drugs were used sparingly with careful control and with respect for their potential hazard.

For this contribution, the tranquilizers take their place among the great scientific discoveries of the century.

Then suddenly these and other tranquilizing drugs skyrocketed into immense popularity as man's answer to his own anxiety. All troubles and problems and tensions seemed to disappear if the "worry pill" was taken three times a day.

Today these peace-of-mind drugs are being swallowed by the million, often without direction and more often without the understanding that they can have harmful effects.

When any drug is taken without supervision over a protracted period of time, there is a tendency to minimize the possibility of its toxic side-effects. Although these side-effects occur infrequently, it is foolhardy to disregard the possibility.

When tranquilizers are routinely taken as an escape from the stress of daily living, dependence on them becomes fixed and uncontrollable. On the other hand, when they are taken at selected times under the supervision of the physician, they become a valuable transitional bridge during periods of acute emotional stress.

Electronic and infrared equipment that was originally designed for military purposes was converted to peacetime use.

At the Albert Einstein Medical Centre in Philadelphia, this infrared photography was used to locate tumors of the breast.

The technique is called a Thermogram. It utilizes the known principles that temperatures of the skin are higher over tumors and inflammations. These Thermogram readings showed an amazing accuracy in early diagnosis in a vast study of cases.

The Thermogram technique is now being applied to other areas of the body for the study of diseases of the bones and the blood vessels. Wide interest centers around this new medical diagnostic device.

PROFESSIONAL football has become such big business — with capacity crowds every Sunday taken for granted — that it's hard to realize that as recently as 1927, less than a thousand spectators turned up for a game between the Chicago Bears and the New York Giants that clinched the championship for the New York club.

Guiding spirit of the Giants in those tough early days was the late Tim Mara (his sons own and run the club today). Tim Mara was persuaded to back the club when, he admitted later, he "didn't know the difference between a touch-down and a fumble." "I founded our club," he added, "on strength and ignorance: the players' strength and my ignorance."

And how his faith paid off! The New York franchise cost him $2500 in the twenties. His heirs probably wouldn't sell for $7 million today!

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP)—The consumer remains as hard for the experts to figure as ever.

He buys when they think he should be saving his money for a rainy day and he refrains from going on a buying spree when they expect him to because of all the prosperity talk.

On the other hand the consumer has given the auto industry two straight years of good sales. According to the text books that's most unlikely.

On the other hand total retail sales, including car purchases, have dropped a bit for three straight months.

By the rules—which the consumer apparently hasn't bothered to memorize—retail sales should have gone on rising, because the total of personal incomes has been climbing to consecutive record levels.

With more money in their pockets many consumers have found something else to do with it than run down to the store or dealer.

This is almost as hard for the experts to explain as the consumer's calm continuance of spending during the 1960 recession when he should have been frightened and retrenching.

This unpredictable element is tough on the planners who would like to plot, and steer, a course for the economy.

Also upsetting to them just now is that some of the seasonal patterns aren't being followed in other sections of the economy.

The general outlook remains good, but some things are lagging when they should be advancing.

One is the factory hiring rate. The Labor Department says this edged up to 39 per 1,000 employees in May from 38 in April. This increase is smaller than seasonal. The lag came when many industries were increasing production and most business statistics were taking on a much healthier glow.

This helped drop the layoff rate to 14 per 1,000 employees from 16 in April. This was about in line with seasonal trends. But many had hoped for a greater dip because of increased industrial activity.

Summer Brings Tale of Woe

NEW YORK (AP)—In summer the average business office becomes a kind of refuge for the walking wounded.

People go gladly to work there because it is the only place they know where they can enjoy air-conditioned safety and escape the dangers of home and leisure.

Weekends are the worst of all. The results show up on Monday, when most swivel chairs are unmanned because their usual occupants through the company doctor's office.

Here are a few typical summer casualties and their tales of woe:

"Doc," says the personnel manager, handing him a small package, "I dozed while cutting the grass and fell off my power mower, and the darned thing ran over me, from head to foot.

"I think my hair will grow back allright, but what about my right big toe? Do you think it's too late to sew it back on?"

The office boy walks in like a bowlegged cowboy.

"Spent the weekend racing my motor bike," he tells the medic.

"What's good for saddle sores?"

Sally Primrose, the secretary, went on a picnic—and now she has red-rimmed, weeping eyes and can't stop sneezing.

"All I did—kerchoo!!—was to bend down and smell a wildflower," she explains, "and now I've got—kerchoo!!—this terrible attack of hay fever. What can you do for me?"

"Gesundheit!" says the doctor helpfully.

By Hal Boyle

The line of sufferers snaps to attention as the boss, shamefaced, enters with a heavily bandaged right hand. Their ears go up as they hear him bark behind the doctor's closed door:

"I hit the ball off the third tee, and it landed in the rough. Just between us, Doc, I reached down to toss it to a better lie—we were playing for two bucks a hole—and I guess that's when I picked up this poison ivy. But don't let those jerks outside know what happened or I'll never hear the last of it."

Red Sincerity Doubtful

By John Chamberlain

Undersecretary of State Averell Harriman has departed for Moscow where discussions about a nuclear test ban are scheduled to take place. Harriman was to break his trip with a stopover in London, just to clear the decks with the British, who will also be in on the Moscow deliberations.

Whatever the hopes for the Harriman mission may be, he is certainly not going to Moscow "cold." For the most complicated system of wiggling between Kennedy and Khrushchev has been going on for months. The wiggling, on the part of the U.S., has had considerable down-the-line support in circles that have their effect on policy recommendations that are fed into the White House.

There is, for example, the drive among academic intellectuals for "containing" not the Soviet Union, but the people who advocate containing the Soviet Union. One of the leaders of this movement is David Reisman, the Henry Ford II Professor of Social Science at Harvard, who, in some reflections that have been printed in a newsletter of the Council for Correspondence, has suggested "that it may be easier in the short run to contain the Soviet Union than to contain our own allies or the American energies mobilized behind the Cold War."

Professor Reisman holds up his hands in horror at American orators such as Thomas Schelling, Herman Kahn and Henry Kissinger who "think in terms of deterring the Russians and not the Americans."

The Reisman type of anti-anti-Communism crops up in a document prepared by Walter Millis of the Fund for the Republic, who is quoted as saying, "Whether we admit it to ourselves or not, we benefit enormously from the capability of the Soviet police system to keep law and order over the 200-million-odd Russians and the many additional millions in the satellite states. The break-up of the Russian communist empire today would doubtless be conducive to freedom, but would be a good deal more catastrophic for world order than was the break-up of the Austro-Hungarian Empire in 1918."

On the journalistic front, the phrase, "Opening to the East," appears in some of the dispatches that speculate on the probable course of Vatican policy under the new Pope, Paul VI.

The wiggling for an "opening to the East" was a most pronounced part of President Kennedy's now famous June 10 address at American University in Washington, D. C.

Subsequently, in a speech to the Germans in West Berlin, Kennedy turned his sights around to inveigh against those who put their trust in cooperation with the Communists. "There are some who say," he said, "that Communism is the wave of the future. . . There are some who say, 'We can work with the Communists.' Let them come to Berlin!" But, just a little later at the Free University of Berlin, our travelling President counselled playing down the Cold War "Peaceful reunification of Germany," he said, "will not be quick." And, with a wigwag to Khrushchev, he finished off by saying, "Let us deal with the realities as they actually are."

What does all this wigwagging mean in terms of what the West may be prepared to offer the Russians in Moscow for an effective atomic test ban agreement? Apparently Khrushchev thinks he can parley the wigwags into a combination of deals. First, there would be a test ban that would cover everything but underground testing. Then there would be a non-aggression pact between the NATO governments and the Soviet satellites who subscribe to the Warsaw Treaty. As a sweetener for such a combination of deals, which would effectively recognize the legitimacy of all the Communist stooge governments of Eastern Europe, Khrushchev might agree to taking the Cuban clothes off his soldiers in Cuba and repatriating them in bona fide Russian dress to the Soviet Union.

Well, this columnist is a peaceful soul at heart, and he doesn't relish swallowing strontium 90 from atomic fall-out in his milk. But as Castro Communists continue to bomb oil pipe-lines in Venezuela, he doubts that any sincerity can be expected from Communists. If a test ban is momentarily to Khrushchev's advantage, the Russians will sign it. It is not the test ban that we must fear, but what may be piled on top of it in the shape of concessions that will take the heart out of anti-Communists everywhere.

Business Briefs

A new 7 hp tractor with an exclusive independent groundspeed control has been announced by John Deere. It is the 110 lawn and garden tractor, now on display at the Marshall Implement Co., Route 2.

The "110" features a transaxle, or combination transmission and differential. There are three forward and one reverse gears. An independent ground-speed control lever can be set in seven positions, giving 21 forward or seven reverse speeds. Ground-speed changes can be made on the go without using the clutch or throttle.

A rotary lawn mower or snow thrower attached to the tractor continues to run at proper speed while the ground speed is changed. This means that the operator can mow short or high grass and clear away light or deep snow without reducing the efficiency of the mower or snow thrower when he reduces the ground speed.

A two-way safety starting system is another exclusive. A key-operated switch is used to start the "110." The engine can be started only when tractor is in neutral gear. When the rotary mower is attached, the engine cannot be started unless the mower drive is disengaged.

John Deere also announced a 38-inch rotary mower with three rotary blades for use with the "110"; a 42-inch front-mounted safety-trip dozer blade that may be angled and tilted to the right or left; a 36-inch snow thrower with a spout that swivels 270 degrees and an integral 20-gallon sprayer with handgun or boom.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official weather bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

The record-breaking cool weather ended over Ohio last night, although temperatures dropped into the 50s generally, no records were reported broken.

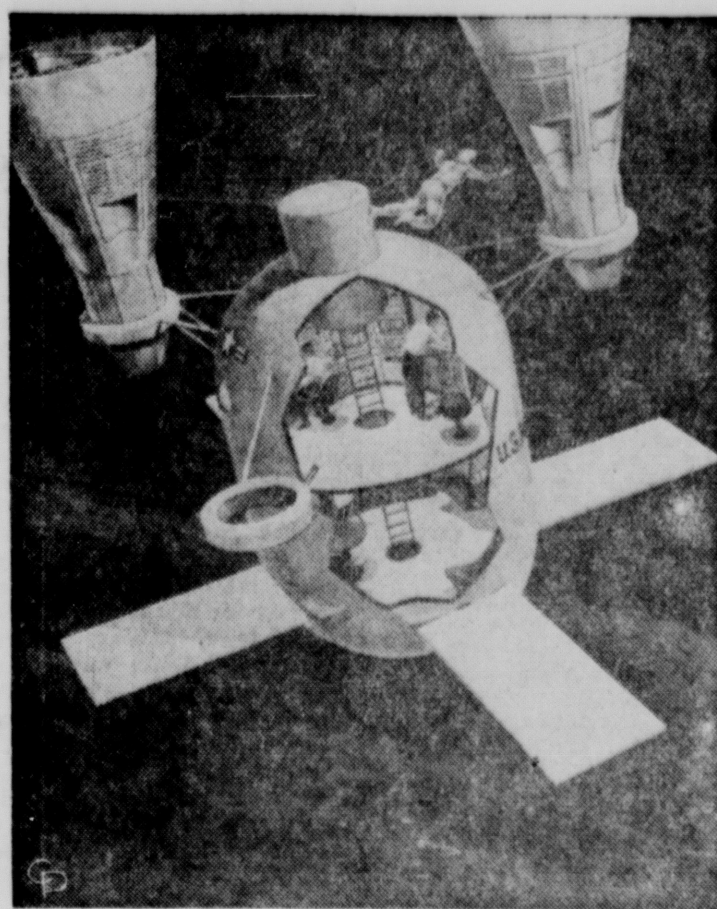

Skies remained mostly clear during the night and heavy fog formed in some areas.

Temperatures at sunrise were from 51 at Cincinnati to 62 at Findlay. The high pressure system responsible for the four-day stretch of cool weather was moving eastward over the Atlantic this morning. Southerly winds will now bring warm, humid air into Ohio on the weekend.

Afternoon temperatures today and Saturday will be in the upper 80s. Moisture will increase bringing the possibility of scattered showers to the western half of Ohio by Saturday night.

Arkansas Marriage Hassle May Be Quietly Cleared Up

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Hundreds of Arkansas couples who learned in April that they may not be legally married under state law, may be legally married after all.

The quandary over what the law says, what the Arkansas Supreme Court says it says, and what the Social Security Administration says it says was slightly clarified by a statement Wednesday from the Arkansas attorney general.

James C. Hale, former state representative who authored the now-controversial law, disclaimed any designs to stir controversy when he wrote the bill.

Many Arkansans have re-married in private ceremonies, two mass weddings are planned for this weekend, and many other couples simply waited—some angrily.

The law, Act 32, of 1941, reads in part:

"Every male who shall have arrived at the full age of 18 years, and every female who shall have arrived at the full age of 16 years, shall be capable in law of contracting marriage: if under those ages, the marriages shall be absolutely void."

The administration said it would not pay benefits to wives or widows who were not legally married. It cited the 1941 law and said many Arkansans who thought they were married really weren't.

Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett said Wednesday that a marriage in which one or both parties were under the legal age would not be absolutely void, as the law states, but could be annulled upon petition by one of the parents in court.

Jerry Patterson, Bennett's assistant, said the marriage is legal until one of the marriage partners goes into court and gets it declared void.

Both Bennett and Patterson cited a 1944 ruling by the Arkansas Supreme Court in which the court ruled that such a marriage is not a nullity, but is void only from the time it is so declared by a court of competent jurisdiction.

Patrick Hebert, regional attorney for the administration, said in Dallas, Tex., that he had conferred with Bennett and was reviewing the question to determine what the administration's policy will be.

Business Briefs

A new 7 hp tractor with an exclusive independent groundspeed control has been announced by John Deere. It is the 110 lawn and garden tractor, now on display at the Marshall Implement Co., Route 2.

The "110" features a transaxle, or combination transmission and differential. There are three forward and one reverse gears. An independent ground-speed control lever can be set in seven positions, giving 21 forward or seven reverse speeds. Ground-speed changes can be made on the go without using the clutch or throttle.

A rotary lawn mower or snow thrower attached to the tractor continues to run at proper speed while the ground speed is changed. This means that the operator can mow short or high grass and clear away light or deep snow without reducing the efficiency of the mower or snow thrower when he reduces the ground speed.

A two-way safety starting system is another exclusive. A key-operated switch is used to start the "110." The engine can be started only when tractor is in neutral gear. When the rotary mower is attached, the engine cannot be started unless the mower drive is disengaged.

John Deere also announced a 38-inch rotary mower with three rotary blades for use with the "110"; a 42-inch front-mounted safety-trip dozer blade that may be angled and tilted to the right or left; a 36-inch snow thrower with a spout that swivels 270 degrees and an integral 20-gallon sprayer with handgun or boom.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official weather bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

The record-breaking cool weather ended over Ohio last night, although temperatures dropped into the 50s generally, no records were reported broken.

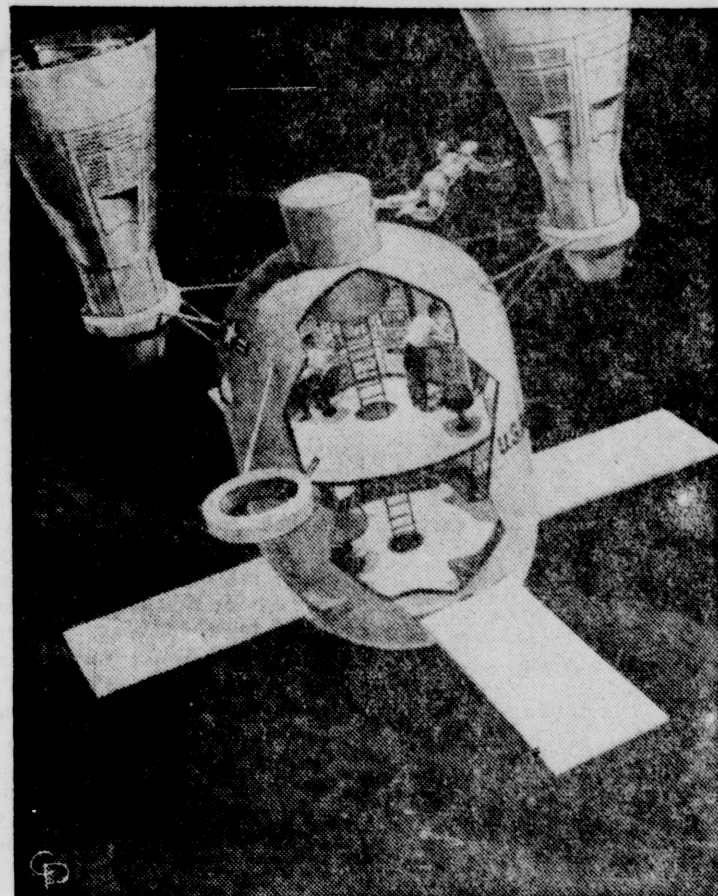

Skies remained mostly clear during the night and heavy fog formed in some areas.

Temperatures at sunrise were from 51 at Cincinnati to 62 at Findlay. The high pressure system responsible for the four-day stretch of cool weather was moving eastward over the Atlantic this morning. Southerly winds will now bring warm, humid air into Ohio on the weekend.

Afternoon temperatures today and Saturday will be in the upper 80s. Moisture will increase bringing the possibility of scattered showers to the western half of Ohio by Saturday night.

SPACE STATION COULD BE BUILT NOW—Above is an artist's conception of a four-man space station which, it was said in Washington, could be built by the United States now. The space station would be boosted into orbit unmanned, followed by two men each in a pair of Gemini capsules that would dock in baskets attached to the station. The men could live inside without protective clothing. The photo is from the Air Force/Space Digest.

Arkansas Marriage Hassle May Be Quietly Cleared Up

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Hundreds of Arkansas couples who learned in April that they may not be legally married under state law, may be legally married after all.

The quandary over what the law says, what the Arkansas Supreme Court says it says, and what the Social Security Administration says it says was slightly clarified by a statement Wednesday from the Arkansas attorney general.

James C. Hale, former state representative who authored the now-controversial law, disclaimed any designs to stir controversy when he wrote the bill.

Many Arkansans have re-married in private ceremonies, two mass weddings are planned for this weekend, and many other couples simply waited—some angrily.

The law, Act 32, of 1941, reads in part:

"Every male who shall have arrived at the full age of 18 years, and every female who shall have arrived at the full age of 16 years, shall be capable in law of contracting marriage; if under those ages, the marriages shall be absolutely void."

The administration said it would not pay benefits to wives or widows who were not legally married. It cited the 1941 law and said many Arkansans who thought they were married really weren't.

Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett said Wednesday that a marriage in which one or both parties were under the legal age would not be absolutely void, as the law states, but could be annulled upon petition by one of the parents in court.

Jerry Patterson, Bennett's assistant, said the marriage is legal until one of the marriage partners goes into court and gets it declared void.

Both Bennett and Patterson cited a 1944 ruling by the Arkansas Supreme Court in which the court ruled that such a marriage is not a nullity, but is void only from the time it is so declared by a court of competent jurisdiction.

Patrick Hebert, regional attorney for the administration, said in Dallas, Tex., that he had conferred with Bennett and was reviewing the question to determine what the administration's policy will be.

Morning Glory Seeds Studied By Drug Aides

WASHINGTON (AP)—Food and Drug Administration scientists are analyzing morning glory seeds to determine whether they contain hallucination causing drugs.

The study was set off by reports of out-of-season runs on the seeds by buyers in Boston, New York and California, a spokesman said today.

The investigation began at the end of May after reports of the demand came from distributors. The suspect substance is Lysergic acid ethylamide.

"We don't know if we really have a problem here," the spokesman said.

The two morning glory varieties said to contain the substance are called "heavenly Blue" and "Pearly Gates."

The FDA had no comment on two recent reports of the drug in the seeds.

One scientist reported on tests with several groups of human subjects. According to the report, a human would have to eat several hundred of the seeds to produce hallucinations, the spokesman said.

If analysis proves that the seeds do contain the drug, the food and drug laws would be applicable. The seeds would be in a different category from marijuana which comes under the narcotics act.

Special Beauty Aids for the Summer Traveler

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

Going places for the summer? Then be sure to take beauty with you.

It's no problem, for special aids have been designed with the needs of the weekend or vacation traveler in mind.

One of the niftiest and most complete kits of them all holds a two-week supply of basic beauty products, each packaged in a practical, lightweight plastic jar or bottle.

The kit includes the following: a liquid cleanser, a cooling and refreshing herbal skin freshener, a stimulating conditioner, a gentle and creamy lubricant, a greaseless cream to use on lined skin areas, a beauty emulsion to treat sun-dried skin and a bath perfume.

All aids fit completely into a pink plastic envelope case that weighs 16 ounces when it's packed and ready to go places.

Dear Abby: Prayers To Be Considered

by Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am nine years old and have not missed one Sunday school class since I started. I don't believe in God any more. We set the date for our class picnic to be June 8th. On May 20th I started to pray for a nice day on June 8th and do you know what? On June 8th it rained. Why did God have to make it rain on that day? Doesn't He listen to prayer?

NO MORE PRAYERS

DEAR NO MORE: Be assured that God does listen to prayers, Honey. Maybe He was answering a prayer for rain from some farmers in Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska and Illinois. Those farmers start praying in April! Now, isn't a farmer's crop more important than a picnic? I'm from Iowa, and if our farmers didn't get rain when they prayed for it believe me, it was "no picnic" all year for the merchants in the surrounding area.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a woman who knocks nine years off her age when she knows a man is interested in marrying her? I told her my real age but she lied to me about hers. I found out accidentally yesterday. I am now married to this woman and am satisfied with her in every way, but I don't like to be fooled. She looks younger than she is, but if I had known her real age when I went with her I maybe wouldn't have married her. What should I do about this, if anything?

SATISFIED BUT MAD

DEAR SATISFIED: Any woman who can "knock nine years off her age" and get away with it is a pretty good hider. She was wrong to have lied to you in the first place, but if you are "satisfied with her in every way", you'll get over your "mad".

DEAR ABBY: This is my problem and also the problem of many of my friends, so I hope you'll use it in your column. Why do mothers make unpaid baby sitters out of their teen-age daughters? I can't make any plans because at the last minute my mother has to go some place, and I have to stay home and take care of my little brother. Even when she's home I have to give him lunch, his bath, or just watch him. I wouldn't mind so much if I got paid for it. If my mother hired someone else to do what I do, she'd have to pay her. Do you think this is fair?

UNPAID SITTER

DEAR UNPAID: If your mother could afford to hire someone else, she probably would. Do what you are asked to do, good-naturedly, and do it well. Make YOUR plans a little in advance and ask your mother if you may be "free" to go. And you aren't exactly "unpaid". Look at all the practical experience in child-rearing you're getting.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "ASPHALT JUNGLE QUEEN": Sorry, the man is just as married as he would have been had he been sober.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Gibbs, 555 Ridgewood Drive, will become the bride of Mr. James Lee Gregg, son of Mrs. Donna Gregg, Route 2, Ashville, and the late Mr. Hurbert Gregg Jr., in an open church wedding 7 p. m. Sunday at the First Evangelical United Brethren Church.

The double ring ceremony will be performed by Rev. Gibbs, father of the bride, and the Rev. Ceril Burns, uncle of the bride.

In the Image of God

THE PREEMINENT IMPORTANCE AND DIGNITY OF MAN, AS REVEALED IN THE GENESIS ACCOUNT OF HIS CREATION

Scripture—Genesis 1-8.

By N. SPEER JONES

IN THIS second of two lessons on the first two chapters of the Bible, we shall concentrate on the creation of man. This is the final act of God's creative work, and this fact in itself gives man a dominant place in the universe.

Furthermore, there is more space assigned to the account of this creation in Genesis than to any other single product of God's creation. Man is the only creature made in God's image, the only one into which God breathes His Own breath. God also specifically gives man dominion over the earth.

This image of God is sometimes misinterpreted to mean that man is made in form like God's. We must remember that God is Spirit, without form; the image is one of personality or essence of being. The image was marred in man's fall, and position of importance.

The location of the Garden of Eden has long been a subject of conjecture. Of the four rivers mentioned, the Hiddekel and Phrat seem to have been identified correctly as the Tigris and Euphrates. The land of Cush appears to be Ethiopia. The Pishon and Gihon rivers and the land of Havilah, however, have not been identified with any certainty at all.

Since the time of Philo Judaeus, the Garden of Eden has also been subject to allegorical interpretation. Origin considered Eden heaven, with the trees as angels and the rivers as wisdom. Martin Luther taught that Eden was guarded by angels from discovery until after the flood destroyed all traces of it. Emanuel Swedenborg taught that it represented the state of innocence.

Note that in this garden man was given work to do—a blessing.

GOLDEN TEXT

What is man that Thou art mindful of him, and the son of man that thou dost care for him? Yet Thou hast made him little less than God, and dost crown him with glory and honor.—Psalms 8:4-5.

restored through Christ. Because of our likeness to God, we have the possibility of communion and understanding with Him.

God's command to man was two-fold: he was to multiply and to have dominion over his world. The word "replenish" does not mean, of course, that a race had existed previously, but that man was to fill the earth.

In the two chapters assigned here, we find two accounts of man's creation—the first, the brief statement in Genesis 1:27, and the second, the more detailed account in Genesis 2:7, 18-25. In this graphic account, man is molded from the very dust of the earth, providing him with sufficiently humble origin that he should never forget that it is only due to God's grace that he maintains any being—and the intelligence with which to do it. He was also told of God's purpose for him, in replenishing the earth.

He was also given God's first direct commandment—to eat of every tree except of the knowledge of good and evil. This knowledge of good and evil would not come from the tree itself but from man's disobedience to God's command.

The Sabbath was instituted (Genesis 2:1-6) not because God was tired, but because His work was finished.

The word "woman" means literally "wife-man." Note that she was not made from his head, nor his feet, but from his side—to be equal with him, not above or below. We also note God's monogamous purpose and realize the supreme devotion with which a man and wife are meant to cling to each other.

Test Ban Talk Success Said Up to Russia

NEW YORK (AP)—W. Averell Harriman, special U.S. envoy to the tri-power nuclear test ban talks in Moscow, said Thursday any failure "will be on the part of the Soviet Union."

However, Harriman saw some rays of hope before leaving for London by jetliner.

He said that Soviet Premier Khrushchev's speech in East Germany July 2, in which the Soviet leader indicated he was prepared to reach an agreement on a partial test ban, was encouraging.

So was the cordial message President Kennedy received last week from Khrushchev and the appearance of Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan at the July 4 reception at the U.S. Embassy in Moscow, Harriman added.

Harriman felt these were "some of the small indications" of Khrushchev's sincerity.

But Harriman told a press conference at Idlewild Airport that Kennedy "is attempting to do everything he can to make it plain to the people of the world that we will cooperate in achieving a test ban. If there is failure, it will be on the part of the Soviet Union."

The veteran diplomat said that the United States hopes to obtain a comprehensive test ban.

"However," he said, "we are prepared to agree to a partial test ban."

Although he will be in Moscow primarily for the nuclear talks, Harriman said he is prepared to discuss and explore other matters with Soviet leaders.

Harriman's first stop will be London where he will consult with British government officials before taking off for Moscow on Sunday.

In London he will see the British representative to the Test ban talks, Lord Hailsham, and also will meet with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

In the Image of God

THE PREEMINENT IMPORTANCE AND DIGNITY OF MAN, AS REVEALED IN THE GENESIS ACCOUNT OF HIS CREATION

Scripture—Genesis 1-2.

By N. SPEER JONES
 IN THIS second of two lessons on the first two chapters of the Bible, we shall concentrate on the creation of man. This is the final act of God's creative work, and this fact in itself gives man a dominant place in the universe.

Furthermore, there is more space assigned to the account of this creation in Genesis than to any other single product of God's creation. Man is the only creature made in God's image, the only one into which God breathes His Own breath. God also specifically gives man dominion over the earth.

This image of God is sometimes misinterpreted to mean that man is made in form like God's. We must remember that God is Spirit, without form; the image is one of personality or essence of being. The image was marred in man's fall, and position of importance. The location of the Garden of Eden has long been a subject of conjecture. Of the four rivers mentioned, the Hiddekel and Phrat seem to have been identified correctly as the Tigris and Euphrates. The land of Cush appears to be Ethiopia. The Pishon and Gihon rivers and the land of Havilah, however, have not been identified with any certainty at all.

Since the time of Philo Judeus, the Garden of Eden has also been subject to allegorical interpretation. Origin considered Eden heaven, with the trees as angels and the rivers as wisdom. Martin Luther taught that Eden was guarded by angels from discovery until after the flood destroyed all traces of it. Emanuel Swedenborg taught that it represented the state of innocence.

Note that in this garden man was given work to do—a bless-restored through Christ. Because of our likeness to God, we have the possibility of communion and understanding with Him.

God's command to man was two-fold: he was to multiply and to have dominion over his world. The word "replenish" does not mean, of course, that a race had existed previously, but that man was to fill the earth.

In the two chapters assigned here, we find two accounts of man's creation—the first, the brief statement in Genesis 1:27, and the second, the more detailed account in Genesis 2:7, 18-25. In this graphic account, man is molded from the very dust of the earth, providing him with sufficiently humble origin that he should never forget that it is only due to God's grace that he maintains any ing—and the intelligence with which to do it. He was also told God's purpose for him, in replenishing the earth.

He was also given God's first direct commandment—to eat of every tree except of the knowledge of good and evil. This knowledge of good and evil would not come from the tree itself but from man's disobedience to God's command.

The Sabbath was instituted (Genesis 2:1-6) not because God was tired, but because His work was finished.

The word "woman" means literally "wife-man." Note that she was not made from his head, nor his feet, but from his side—to be equal with him, not above or below. We also note God's monogamous purpose and realize the supreme devotion with which a man and wife are meant to cling to each other.

Test Ban Talk Success Said Up to Russia

NEW YORK (AP)—W. Averell Harriman, special U.S. envoy to the tri-power nuclear test ban talks in Moscow, said Thursday any failure "will be on the part of the Soviet Union."

However, Harriman saw some rays of hope before leaving for London by jetliner.

He said that Soviet Premier Khrushchev's speech in East Germany July 2, in which the Soviet leader indicated he was prepared to reach an agreement on a partial test ban, was encouraging.

So was the cordial message President Kennedy received last week from Khrushchev and the appearance of Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan at the July 4 reception at the U.S. Embassy in Moscow, Harriman added.

Harriman felt these were "some of the small indications" of Khrushchev's sincerity.

But Harriman told a press conference at Idlewild Airport that Kennedy "is attempting to do everything he can to make it plain to the people of the world that we will cooperate in achieving a test ban. If there is failure, it will be on the part of the Soviet Union."

The veteran diplomat said that the United States hopes to obtain a comprehensive test ban.

"However," he said, "we are prepared to agree to a partial test ban."

Although he will be in Moscow primarily for the nuclear talks, Harriman said he is prepared to discuss and explore other matters with Soviet leaders.

Harriman's first stop will be London where he will consult with British government officials before taking off for Moscow on Sunday.

In London he will see the British representative to the Test ban talks, Lord Hailsham, and also will meet with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry Cabot Lodge is walking into a mess, one of the most dismal since the United States tried to help Chiang Kai-shek save China from the Communists.

President Kennedy recently appointed him ambassador to South Viet Nam.

From 1946 until 1951 the colonialist French tried to smash the Reds in Indochina. By 1951 they were doing so badly, militarily and financially, the United States had to bail them out, or try to.

It put $2.5 billion into the fight. No good. The French quit in 1954. The Communists got half of Indochina. Then the United States moved in and supported President Ngo Dinh Diem of South Viet Nam.

From 1954 until now this country has pumped in another $2.5 billion, plus 12,000 troops to help Diem and train his troops. So far 84 Americans have been killed in action or in non-combatant activities. What's the result?

No end to the war is in sight. Communist guerrillas are not only still fighting but now Diem is up to his neck with South Vietnamese Buddhists, who make up 80 per cent of the population and are growing increasingly angry.

Thursday Malcolm W. Browne, Associated Press correspondent in Saigon, reported that U.S. officials there believe South Viet Nam could be plunged into civil war and chaos if tensions between the Buddhists and Diem increase.

The Buddhists complain they are discriminated against by Diem and most of his top advisers who, like Diem, are Roman Catholics. Diem is a dictator, and a hard-headed one.

His country, about the size of New England, has 14.5 million people. Most of them live under primitive conditions.

It was recognized in Washington years ago that Diem needed to put in many reforms to give the people social, economic and political justice if they were to be persuaded to prefer his regime to the Communists.

(The United States faced the same problem after World War II with Chiang, who operated as a war lord while fighting Communists who promised reforms. Despite all the American help poured into him, the Communists drove him out.)

In the fall of 1961 President Kennedy's military adviser, Gen. Maxwell Taylor, went to South Viet Nam, looked around, came back. Then on Dec. 16, 1961, so-called "informed sources" in the Kennedy administration said:

The United States and South Viet Nam had agreed on a dozen new steps—including the reforms mentioned above 8 to make increased American aid more effective. That's just about the last ever heard of the reforms.

About seven months after the "informed sources" painted their rosy picture in Washington, Homer Bigart of the New York Times, having finished a half year in South Viet Nam, wrote:

"The issue remains in doubt. The Vietnamese president seems incapable of winning the loyalty of his people. Washington decided it was too risky to prod Diem publicly. Efforts to obtain major political and social reforms were quietly dropped."

Another half year later—in February, 1963—Richard Dudman of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch reported on South Viet Nam. Taking aim at President Diem, his "adviser" brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, and the brother's wife, the trio which runs the country, Dudman said:

"They are undemocratic, self-righteous, unpopular, cunning, clannish, repressive, and inclined to label anyone who criticizes them a Communist or a tool of the Communists."

There had been charges of crooked dealings by Diem's sister-in-law and that she was building up a fortune in foreign banks.

AP's Browne asked her about the charges and said she replied:

The family had always been wealthy and didn't need money, that she was much more interested in power.

Late last month a dozen prominent Protestant, Jewish and Buddhist religious leaders in this country assailed what they called the persecution of Buddhists in South Viet Nam. On top of this, American newsmen were manhandled by Diem's secret police.

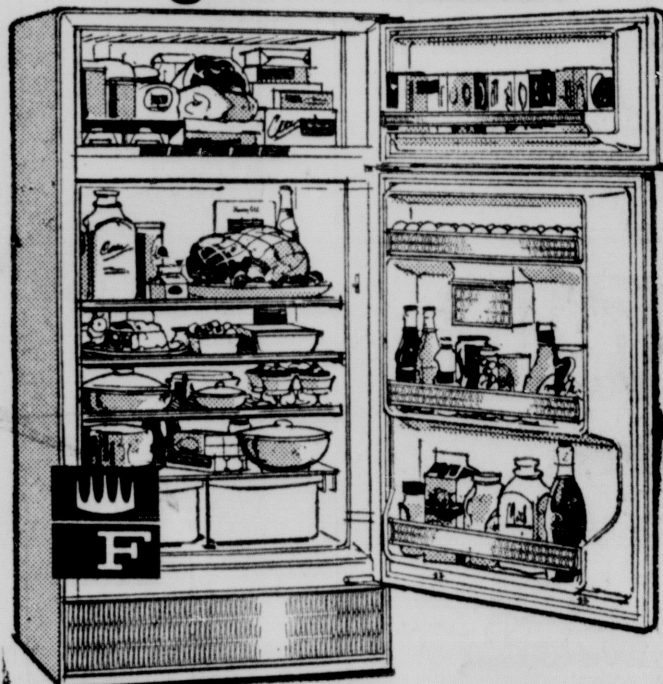

Thursday Ambassador Frederick E. Nolting, returning to South Viet Nam for the last time before turning his job over to Lodge, said the United States stands for freedom of religion and the press. This was reported from Saigon as implied criticism of Diem.

If the Kennedy administration feels it has to imply criticism of Diem, instead of saying it plainly, it is a good illustration of how much it feels it must handle him gingerly even though he couldn't survive without U.S. help.

OFFICIAL GREETER—The official greeter for the annual Yankee Homecoming in Newburyport, Mass., Joe Roquette, dressed in an authentic period costume, has his wig curled and set at a beauty parlor. The homecoming will run through July 27-Aug. 4.

London Mum on Cuban Reds' Use of Small British Island

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has twice urged Britain to bar use of Grand Cayman Island as a transfer point for subversives from Cuba, but has as yet received no response, the State Department has disclosed.

This country contends that potential subversive agents from Cuba have flown to Grand Cayman, a small British-owned island south of Cuba, and transferred there to commercial airliners to travel to other countries in the hemisphere.

"We would like to see the British decide to discontinue allowing such flights as this," press officer Richard I. Phillips said today. He said the situation was taken up with the British after flights on June 7 and June 26.

In London, a British Foreign Office spokesman said, "We are discussing the matter with the Americans, but have not yet given them our reply."

Phillips said flights to Cuba from Mexico, Spain and Canada also are continuing although the United States has "made known to them our interest in the isolation of Cuba."

The State Department reported that four of some 20 potential subversives who flew from Cuba to various Caribbean points via Grand Cayman have been apprehended by El Salvador authorities upon reaching that country.

Among the 20 were several identified Communists—two of them Costa Ricans, the department added.

Phillips said today he does not know the whereabouts of the 20 now except for the four taken by Salvadoran authorities.

Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., said

he's not surprised by reports of the flights.

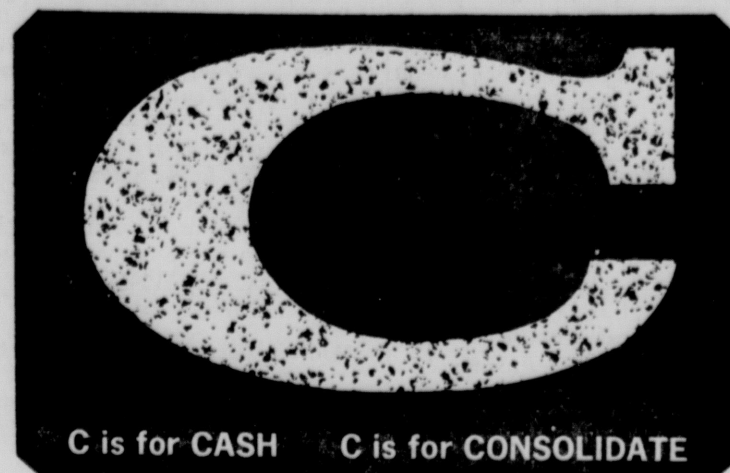

"It's been going on for some time," Tower said today in an interview. "I have consistently said that Cuba is a staging area, a training ground for saboteurs, guerrillas and propagandists."

Another critic of U.S. policy toward the Cuban regime of Fidel Castro, Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, said the report was "further evidence of the step-up in the export of terrorism from Cuba to other Latin-American countries." The New York Republican expressed his view Wednesday night in an interview in Rochester, N.Y.

Some newspapers as well as congressional critics have been charging that Cuba was exporting subversion.

Phillips' statement came after Rep. William C. Cramer, R-Fla., quoted a Miami news reporter as saying that Soviet-made planes had discharged passengers on Grand Cayman Island.

Phillips said the planes that landed on the island were three Soviet-made Ilyushin airliners. He said the 15 to 20 "potential subversive agents" transferred to non-Cuban commercial flights for other points in the Caribbean area including San Jose, Costa Rica.

The Buddhists complain they are discriminated against by Diem and most of his top advisers who, like Diem, are Roman Catholics. Diem is a dictator, and a hard-headed one.

His country, about the size of New England, has 14.5 million people. Most of them live under primitive conditions.

It was recognized in Washington years ago that Diem needed to put in many reforms to give the people social, economic and political justice if they were to be persuaded to prefer his regime to the Communists.

(The United States faced the same problem after World War II with Chiang, who operated as a war lord while fighting Communists who promised reforms. Despite all the American help poured into him, the Communists drove him out.)

In the fall of 1961 President Kennedy's military adviser, Gen. Maxwell Taylor, went to South Viet Nam, looked around, came back. Then on Dec. 16, 1961, so-called "informed sources" in the Kennedy administration said:

The United States and South Viet Nam had agreed on a dozen new steps—including the reforms mentioned above 8 to make increased American aid more effective. That's just about the last ever heard of the reforms.

About seven months after the "informed sources" painted their rosy picture in Washington, Homer Bigart of the New York Times, having finished a half year in South Viet Nam, wrote:

"The issue remains in doubt. The Vietnamese president seems incapable of winning the loyalty of his people. Washington decided it was too risky to prod Diem publicly. Efforts to obtain major political and social reforms were quietly dropped."

Another half year later—in February, 1963—Richard Dudman of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch reported on South Viet Nam. Taking aim at President Diem, his "adviser" brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, and the brother's wife, the trio which runs the country, Dudman said:

"They are undemocratic, self-righteous, unpopular, cunning, clannish, repressive, and inclined to label anyone who criticizes them a Communist or a tool of the Communists."

There had been charges of crooked dealings by Diem's sister-in-law and that she was building up a fortune in foreign banks.

AP's Browne asked her about the charges and said she replied:

The family had always been wealthy and didn't need money, that she was much more interested in power.

Late last month a dozen prominent Protestant, Jewish and Buddhist religious leaders in this country assailed what they called the persecution of Buddhists in South Viet Nam. On top of this, American newsmen were manhandled by Diem's secret police.

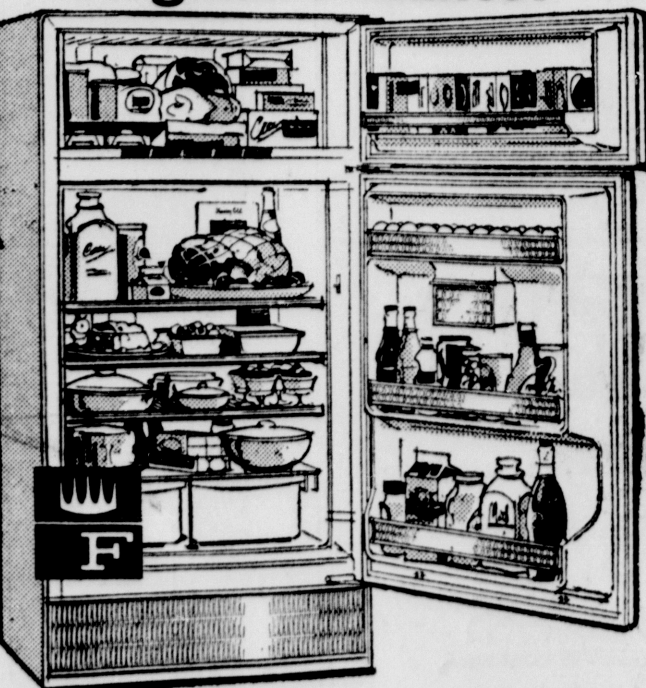

Thursday Ambassador Frederick E. Nolting, returning to South Viet Nam for the last time before turning his job over to Lodge, said the United States stands for freedom of religion and the press. This was reported from Saigon as implied criticism of Diem.

If the Kennedy administration feels it has to imply criticism of Diem, instead of saying it plainly, it is a good illustration of how much it feels it must handle him gingerly even though he couldn't survive without U.S. help.

London Mum on Cuban Reds' Use of Small British Island

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has twice urged Britain to bar use of Grand Cayman Island as a transfer point for subversives from Cuba, but has as yet received no response, the State Department has disclosed.

This country contends that potential subversive agents from Cuba have flown to Grand Cayman, a small British-owned island south of Cuba, and transferred there to commercial airliners to travel to other countries in the hemisphere.

"We would like to see the British decide to discontinue allowing such flights as this," press officer Richard I. Phillips said today. He said the situation was taken up with the British after flights on June 7 and June 26.

In London, a British Foreign Office spokesman said, "We are discussing the matter with the Americans, but have not yet given them our reply."

Phillips said flights to Cuba from Mexico, Spain and Canada also are continuing although the United States has "made known to them our interest in the isolation of Cuba."

The State Department reported that four of some 20 potential subversives who flew from Cuba to various Caribbean points via Grand Cayman have been apprehended by El Salvador authorities upon reaching that country.

Among the 20 were several identified Communists—two of them Costa Ricans, the department added.

Phillips said today he does not know the whereabouts of the 20 now except for the four taken by Salvadorean authorities.

Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., said

he's not surprised by reports of the flights.

"It's been going on for some time," Tower said today in an interview. "I have consistently said that Cuba is a staging area, a training ground for saboteurs, guerrillas and propagandists."

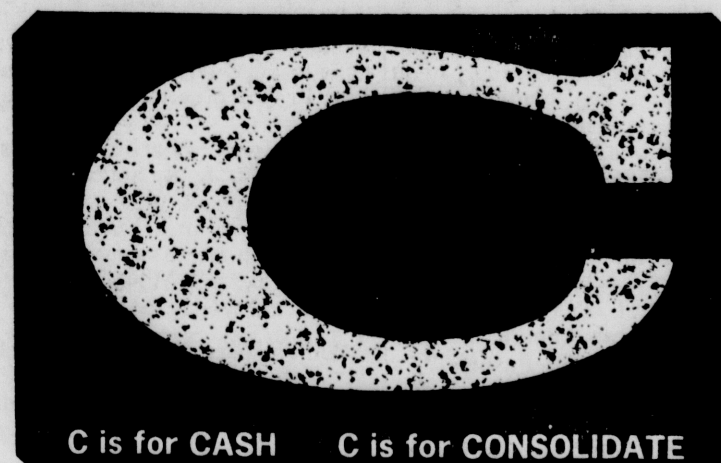

Another critic of U.S. policy toward the Cuban regime of Fidel Castro, Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, said the report was "further evidence of the step-up in the export of terrorism from Cuba to other Latin-American countries."

The New York Republican expressed his view Wednesday night in an interview in Rochester, N.Y.

Some newspapers as well as congressional critics have been charging that Cuba was exporting subversion.

Phillips' statement came after Rep. William C. Cramer, R-Fla., quoted a Miami news reporter as saying that Soviet-made planes had discharged passengers on Grand Cayman Island.

Phillips said the planes that landed on the island were three Soviet-made Ilyushin airliners. He said the 15 to 20 "potential subversive agents" transferred to non-Cuban commercial flights for other points in the Caribbean area including San Jose, Costa Rica.

Minor Tilts Won By First, Wards

In the Little League minors yesterday, a last inning rally by First National Bank defeated Rotary, 12-11, and Wards posted a win over Third National Bank, 8-5.

Harold Smith hurled the first two innings for the winning First Bank, was replaced by Randy Martin in the third, and Mike Sabine finished the game.

Rotary hurler, Gary Dumm, went the initial five innings and left the game leading, 11-10. Gary Robbins entered and was charged with the loss.

Jim Ballou crooked a homer and two triples for the Bankers, Mack Shaw poked a double and a single, Messmore collected a double and a single, Randy Martin belted a double and two singles, and Ridley gave a double.

FOR THE Rotary nine, Dumm had a double and two triples and Triplehorn poked two doubles and a single.

The duo of Ward hurlers, Steve Mogan and Tom Wickerham, combined to pitch a four hitter, with Mogan going the initial three innings and Wickerham finishing. Mogan fanned four and walked four while Wickerham whiffed six and walked three.

Larry Gillian took the loss. He gave up 12 hits, fanned 11 and walked three.

4 Nobodies Vie for Top Publinx Prize

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Three northern Californians who aren't even old enough to vote and a 5-foot-5½ inch 49-year-old golfer who beats young stars with incredible dogged rallies tangled today in the semifinals of the National Public Links Championship.

With tournament favorite Dick Sikes knocked out in his bid for a third straight title and the top 11 medalists sidelined, it was impossible to pick a favorite.

The 36-hole semifinals over the 6,702-yard par 36-36-72 Haggin Oaks golf course matched,

Steve Opperman, 20, South San Francisco, against Daste Vicini, 49, Ottawa, Ill.

Jerry Yuke, 20, Sacramento, vs. Bob Lunn, 18, San Francisco.

While the youngsters showed excellent shots and tremendous golfing promise it was Thursday's quarter-final performance by little Vicini that turned the tournament into a scramble.

The graying glass company worker, competing in his 11th Publinx, shocked Sikes 1-up on the 19th hole in a thrilling head-to-head battle of missed putts and trouble in the rough.

GE, Bakers Best Opponents in BR Major Tilts

GE trounced DuPont, 7-3, and Lindsay Bakery bested L. M. Butch, 6-4, on a combined four hitter by Bob Dean and George Hill. The Bakers won with a 5-run rally in the sixth.

Bill Hill was the starting and winning hurler for GE. He was in trouble in the fifth, but was aided by Tim Stonerock, who gave up three walks and a triple.

Stonerock was lifted in his initial inning in favor of Rick Congrove, who stemmed the tide and finished the game.

Hill fanned one and walked one, Stonerock issued three free trips, and Congrove whiffed three while he walked one.

DOUG PONTIUS was the starter and losing Du Pont thrower. In going the distance, he fanned seven and walked six, while giving up six singles and a double.

GE leadoff man, Ted Herron, poked the only extra base blow for the Lammens, a long double. Rick Congrove managed two singles in four at bats.

For the DuPonters, Diltz collected a single and a triple, Ronnie Miller banged a double and Mansif Hurlbut croaked a hard three-bagger.

Both teams have 1-1 marks.

George Hill combined with Bob Dean to four-hit the Butch men, Dean going the initial five innings and Hill icing the win. Coleman suffered the loss. He sent through the first five innings without allowing a run, but the smoldering Lindsey bats burst into flames and etched out a five run total in the sixth inning. The Bakers added an insurance run in their half of the seventh to cinch the contest.

George Hill went three for four at the plate and brother Chet unloaded a booming triple as the duo demolished the Jewelers.

PHIL SMITH banged a triple for the Butch nine.

The Bakers now hold a 2-0 edge in the third round of action, while Butch is 0-1.

Carl Larsen will rein Vicky Hill owned by the Hill Distributing Co. from the number eight post position; Bud Gilmour has Girard Mir going from the number four post position and Bob Seabrook will go out of the gate with Peter R. J. from the second position.

Speedy Count, a handsome son of Speedster - Countess Song, owned by Arthur Nardin of Miami Beach, Fla., set a new national season mark for age and gait over a half mile track two weeks ago at Saratoga Raceway in 2:07 1-5, then last week, knocked a fifth of a second off that record with a straight heat victory in 2:07 at Goshen, N. Minor Tilts Won
By First, Wards

In the Little League minors yesterday, a last inning rally by First National Bank defeated Rotary, 12-11, and Wards posted a win over Third National Bank, 8-5.

Harold Smith hurled the first two innings for the winning First Bank, was replaced by Randy Martin in the third, and Mike Sabine finished the game.

Rotary hurler, Gary Dumm, went the initial five innings and left the game leading, 11-10. Gary Robbins entered and was charged with the loss.

Jim Ballou croaked a homer and two triples for the Bankers, Mack Shaw poked a double and a single, Messmore collected a double and a single, Randy Martin belted a double and two singles, and Ridley had a double.

FOR THE Rotary nine, Dumm had a double and two triples and Triplehorn poked two doubles and a single.

The duo of Ward hurlers, Steve Mogan and Tom Wickerham, combined to pitch a four hitter, with Mogan going the initial three innings and Wickerham finishing. Mogan fanned four and walked four while Wickerham whiffed six and walked three.

Larry Gillian took the loss. He gave up 12 hits, fanned 11 and walked three.

Publinx Prize

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Three northern Californians who aren't even old enough to vote and a 5-foot-5½ inch 49-year-old golfer who beats young stars with incredible dogged rallies tangled today in the semifinals of the National Public Links Championship.

With tournament favorite Dick Sikes knocked out in his bid for a third straight title, it was impossible to pick a favorite.

The 36-hole semifinals over the 6,702-yard par 36-36-72 Haggins Oaks golf course matched:

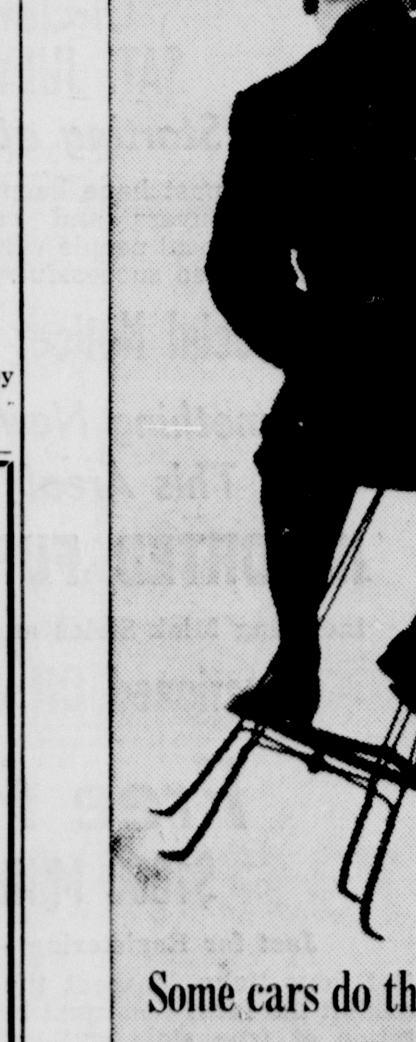

Steve Opperman, 20, South San Francisco, against Daste Vicini, 49, Ottawa, Ill.

Jerry Yuke, 20, Sacramento, vs. Bob Lunn, 18, San Francisco.

While the youngsters showed excellent shots and tremendous golfing promise it was Thursday's quarter-final performance by little Vicini that turned the tournament into a scramble.

The graying glass company worker, competing in his 11th Publinx, shocked Sikes 1-up on the 19th hole in a thrilling head-to-head battle of missed putts and trouble in the rough.

Knights of Columbus, Ankrom
Lumber Earn Mosquito Wins

Ankrom Lumber edged Mac's Goodyear, 7-3, and the Knights of Columbus scored six runs in the last inning to defeat Lewis Cook Insurance, 14-10, in Mosquito League action yesterday.

In the Lumbermen tilt, Terry Leasure and Jeff Styers combined for a two-hit pitching performance. They walked seven batters and fanned 10.

Leasure went the first four innings for the winners and was credited with the victory. Styers finished the game.

A homerun by Leasure and a triple by Bob Peters were the big blows.

THE Lumbermen collected five hits off Randy Sprout, the losing pitcher. Sprout exhibited excellent control in hurling the entire six innings for Mac's. He walked only two, hit one batter with a pitched ball and fanned eight.

Don Valentine poked two singles for Ankrom while Jimmy O'Brien belted out the lone two hits for Ankroms.

A four run explosion in the fourth inning provided the winning margin for the Timbermen.

The Knights of Columbus took an early lead in their tilt, scoring two runs in the first inning. But the Cook Insurance nine tallied in every inning, holding a 9-8 margin as the final frame started.

They collected a total of six runs off losing pitcher Dick Sark in that frame.

Dana Carley went the route for the losers. He walked two and fanned seven, giving up 11 hits in the tilt.

YIELDING a big bat for the Knights was Alan Hawkes, who went three-for-five at the plate. He slammed out a double and cracked two singles, while Don Seyfang hit three singles.

Winning pitcher Carley aided his own cause, hitting a triple a single and scoring one run in two official at bats.

Steve Richards tripled and singled while Larry McFarland hit a pair of singles.

The leading hitter for the losers was Dick Sark with a triple and a pair of singles. Jim Neal hit the only circuit clout of the game and doubled in four trips. He scored two runs. Gary Mogan cracked a double and a single and Larry McCain hit a pair of singles for the Cook team.

Neal started for Cooks, walking six and fanning six in the first four innings. He gave up nine hits. Sark was touched for six hits in two innings, walked three and fanned four.

In the standings, Ankrom Lumber is tied with Circleville Lumber for the lead, each with 2-0 slates in the second round.

Mac's Goodyear, Lewis Cook Insurance, Knights of Columbus all have 1-1 slates while Hill Implement, Pickaway Dairy, Prairie Lanes have 0-1 records.

Defensive halfback Dick Lynch of the New York Giants played for the Washington Redskins in 1959. Before that he was at Notre Dame.

GE, Bakers Best
Opponents in
BR Major Tilts

GE trounced DuPont, 7-3, and Lindsay Bakery bested L. M. Butch, 6-4, on a combined four hitter by Bob Dean and George Hill. The Bakers won with a 5-run rally in the sixth.

Bill Hill was the starting and winning hurler for GE. He was in trouble in the fifth, but was aided by Tim Stonerock, who gave up three walks and a triple.

Stonerock was lifted in his initial inning in favor of Rick Congrove, who stemmed the tide and finished the game.

Hill fanned one and walked one. Stonerock issued three free trips, and Congrove whiffed three while he walked one.

DOUG PONTIUS was the starter and losing Du Pont thrower. In going the distance, he fanned seven and walked six, while giving up six singles and a double.

GE leadoff man, Ted Herron, poked the only extra base blow for the Lampmen, a long double. Rick Congrove managed two singles in four at bats.

For the DuPonters, Diltz collected a single and a triple, Ronnie Miller banged a double and a single while Butch croaked a hard three-bagger.

Both teams have 1-1 marks. George Hill combined with Bob Dean to four-hit the Butch men. Dean going the initial five innings and Hill icing the win. Coleman suffered the loss. He sent through the first five innings without allowing a run, but the smoldering Lindsey bats burst into flames and etched out a five run total in the sixth inning. The Bakers added an insurance run in their half of the seventh to cinch the contest.

George Hill went three for four at the plate and brother Chet unloaded a booming triple as the duo demolished the Jewelers.

PHIL SMITH banged a triple for the Butch nine.

The Bakers now hold a 2-0 edge in the third round of action, while Butch is 0-1.

Fast Field of 2-Year-Olds
Goes at Scioto Downs Tonight

Thirteen of the nation's fastest 2-year-old trotters are entered in tonight's $8,685 Challenge Stakes Number Two at Scioto Downs.

Headed by the season champion, Speedy Count, from the powerful Billy Haughton Stable, the select field of juvenile trotters will zero in on B. B. Coaltown's season record and 2-year-old track trotting record set in last year's Challenge Stakes, a blistering 2:03 3-5.

Bruce Nickells, will have a stable entry in Scribe Rodney and Jansaba.

Carl Larsen will rein Vicky Hill owned by the Hill Distributing Co. from the number eight post position: Bud Gilmour has Girard Mir going from the number four post position and Bob Seabrook will go out of the gate with Peter R. J. from the second position.

Speedy Count, a handsome son of Speedster - Countess Song, owned by Arthur Nardin of Miami Beach, Fla., set a new national season mark for age and gait over a half mile track two weeks ago at Saratoga Raceway in 2:07 1-5, then last week, knocked a fifth of a second off that record with a straight heat victory in 2:07 at Goshen, N. Y. Al Thomas who is no stranger to central Ohio racing fans, will pilot Speedy Count for Billy Haughton.

The Bruce Nickells stable entry of Scribe Rodney and Jansaba is a formidable one to say the least. Scribe Rodney, a bay son of Rodney has won in 2:10 2-5 this year with a record of two wins and one second in three starts.

Jansaba, owned by Ed Gilkey of Columbus, boasts a record of three wins, two seconds in five starts with a mile mark of 2:11 3-5. Both times are over a half mile track.

Vickie Hill with Carl Larsen up will carry the green and gold silks of the Hill Distributing Company stable to the gate, and will lay a record of 2:08 1-5 on the line that was earned at Vernon Downs in New York this season.

Girard Mir with Bud Gilmour at the helm won in 2:08 1-5 over Hazel Park's five - eights mile track, and should offer plenty of competition to the field.

The purse of $8,685 will be up for grabs in the one mile, one heat event.

Browns' Freshmen
Get Contact Early

HIRAM, Ohio (AP)—If the rookie at the Cleveland Browns' freshman training camp at Hiram College thought they were going to be introduced to professional football contact play gradually, they know now they were dead wrong.

There was contact aplenty Thursday, the first day of try-outs, in place of the usual intelligence tests. There was everything but tackling as all but three of the National Football club's rookies showed up—23 in all.

"I felt the fact should be established right away that we will play aggressive football," explained Blanton Collier, the Browns' new head coach. "Some of the newcomers may not understand how the game is played in the National Football League.

"They might just as well face up to it right now."

Best final round during the 1963 U.S. Open at Brookline, Mass., was the 72 score by former champions Gene Littler and Julius Boros and South Africa's Gary Player.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Bruce David Garrett, who passed away eight years ago, July 12, 1955 at the age of 2 1/2 years. The one we loved was called away, we never thought that death was near. The call was sudden, the shock severe, only those who have lost can tell. The pain of passing without farewell while you sleep a peaceful sleep, your memory we shall always keep. Sadly missed by mother, Mrs. Kenneth Julian and brother, Lloyd Gene Garrett.

Whitey Ford's Nothing Pitch Downs Angels

Aging Yankee Star Chalks 14th Win in 10-Inning Effort

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Those American Leaguers who insist Whitey Ford "doesn't have a thing," better keep an eye on the umpire, somebody's murdering 'em.

Ford, 34, left-handed ace of the New York Yankees pitching staff, threw nothing at the Los Angeles Angels Thursday night and came away with a 3-2 victory in 10 innings, his 10th in a row and No. 14 this season.

To many AL observers Ford has lost some of his stuff, and is using his head instead of his arm to outwit the batters. Head or arm, Ford had it again against the Angels, turning aside threat after threat as Los Angeles cracked 11 hits and scored only a pair of unearned runs.

Ford's 14th kept the Yankees five games ahead of the second-place Chicago White Sox, who turned a six-run third inning into a 6-3 victory over Detroit.

Third-place Boston edged Minnesota 2-0 behind Bill Monbouquette's three-hit pitching, Baltimore ended a Washington winning streak at seven games with a 7-4 triumph and Cleveland made the most of John Wyatt's wildness for an 8-6 decision over Kansas City.

The Yankees playing without Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris, got a two-run homer from Hector Lopez in the sixth inning that tied the score, then won in the 10th when Joe Pepitone doubled and Elston Howard followed with a single. That tagged the defeat on Julio Navarro, 4-3. An error by Lopez and a passed ball by Howard allowed the Angels to score two unearned fourth inning runs against Ford, who needed Hal Reniff's last inning relief help.

The White Sox batted around in the third, chasing Hank Aguirre, 7-8. The key blows were a two-run double by Mike Hershberger and Jim Landis' two-run triple. Gary Peters, touched for single runs in the first and second, settled down until two were out in the ninth when Jim Brosnan had to get the final out. Peters is 6-5.

Monbouquette posted his first shutout of the season and brought his record to 12-6 by besting the Twins' Dick Stigman, 7-9. Stigman allowed only four hits in the eight innings he worked, but two were homers—by Bob Tillman and Ed Bressoud. The loss was the Twins eighth in nine games.

The Senators were leading 3-0 with Tom Cheney working on a two-hitter when the Washington starter had to leave with pains in his right elbow. The Orioles immediately went to work, rushing six runs in the seventh inning to put it away.

Wyatt, who's been troubled by wildness recently, wailed Larry Brown to force in the tie-breaking run in the eighth inning, then wild pitched another across. The Indians had drawn even earlier in the inning on singles by Dick Howser and Al Luplow and Jose Azcue's pinch-hit double. Willie Kirkland homered for Cleveland while George Alusik, Ken Harrelson and Doc Edwards connected for the A's.

Ohio Fishing Chances Said 'Just Fair'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Fishing over the state is just fair, reports the Division of Wildlife, but at the same time the division had some good news—a few walleyes are being taken in Lake Erie.

Here's the outlook:
Northwestern — Both lake and stream fishermen having little success. Most waters are clear and extremely low and there has been little fishing pressure.

East central and southeastern — Stream fishermen report fair to good success in the Big and Little Muskingum rivers where catfish are biting fairly well. Some of the better lakes are Leesville, Clevelander, Tappan and Burr Oaks.
Central and southern — Rocky Fork Lake, is apparently the brightest spot. Bass, bluegills, catfish and some muskies are being caught. Pressure is extremely low.

Southwestern — Grant Lake continues to provide good fishing for bass, bluegills and catfish. Reports from other lakes including Kiser, Stonelick, Cowan, Indian and Loramie are rather discouraging.

Businessman 'Dies' 5 Times; Mechanical Heart Gives Life

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Norman Howard "died" five times before he got a mechanical lease on life.

That lease is a battery-powered device in the abdomen of the 53-year-old Maryville businessman. The little lifesaver is connected by wires to two tiny electrodes sewed to the muscles of Howard's heart. It steps up his heartbeat and compensates for a fault in the heart impulses.

The beginning of what might have been the end for Howard was last April 9.

He came home from a day of fishing, took a hot bath and, as he prepared for bed, noticed his heart pounding. Short of breath, he checked his pulse.

"The way I counted it, my pulse beat was 40 to the minute," he said. "Sounded slow to me." The normal beat is 68 to 70.

Next day Howard saw a doctor. There was no evidence of heart attack or heart damage.

"But there's something wrong," the doctor said. "We're going to have to put you in the hospital."

"I started to protest," Howard recalled. "Now? I never felt better in my—right there I collapsed."

His heart was stilled. After long moments, the doctor stirred it to activity again by a powerful chemical, isoproterenol hydrochloride.

Howard, the doctor says, "died" briefly three more times during the next 20 days in a hospital.

When it seemed the attacks were easing, Howard returned home. Two days later he had his fifth brush with oblivion.

"I thought he was gone," said his wife, a former X-ray technician. "We rushed him to University Hospital in Knoxville, the doctor giving him isuprel (isoproterenol hydrochloride) through the veins all the way—and that's quite a trick in an ambulance."

At this point, doctors decided to use the Pacemaker, the electrical heartbeat regulator.

Howard's heart was attached to its mechanical companion May 16. He plans to return to work next week.

Ohio Assembly

markup and to give the state custody of unclaimed bank deposits, stock dividends and similar funds.

Last-minute attempts to work out an acceptable compromise on a new Sunday closing measure also failed.

Resignation of two senators and appointment of their successors marked last day activities.

Sen. Lowell Fess, R-Greene, resigned to accept membership on the State Personnel Board of Review. Sen. Robert Zellar, R-Muskingum, handed in his previously announced resignation to take a post on the Board of Tax Appeals.

Republican senators picked Rep. Max Dennis, R-Clinton, who resigned from the House, to replace Fess. They named Zanesville attorney Tom Moorehead, former congressman and state senator, to succeed Zellar.

Fess served the 5th-6th Senatorial District since 1953. He previously served four terms in the House, starting in 1945.

Zellar represented the new 9th-14th-15th-16th Senatorial District, stretching from Delaware County to Washington County, along with Senate Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem, R-Athens. Reapportionment combined Mechem's former district with that served by Zellar.

Mechem has said he will seek re-election next year from the combined district, which will have only one senator next session. Moorehead is not expected to oppose him.

Gifts Pour In For Jackie's Next Baby

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many Americans already are sending gifts and good wishes to Mrs. John F. Kennedy, who is expecting a third baby in late August.

Baby booties, bibs, bonnets, sweaters and handmade quilts are often included in the daily mail at the White House, along with notes from many parts of the world.

A White House spokesman says the letters even include offers to help take care of the new baby. And, the mail also brings name suggestions and requests to be godparents.

Little girls hope it will be a girl; boys vote for a boy.

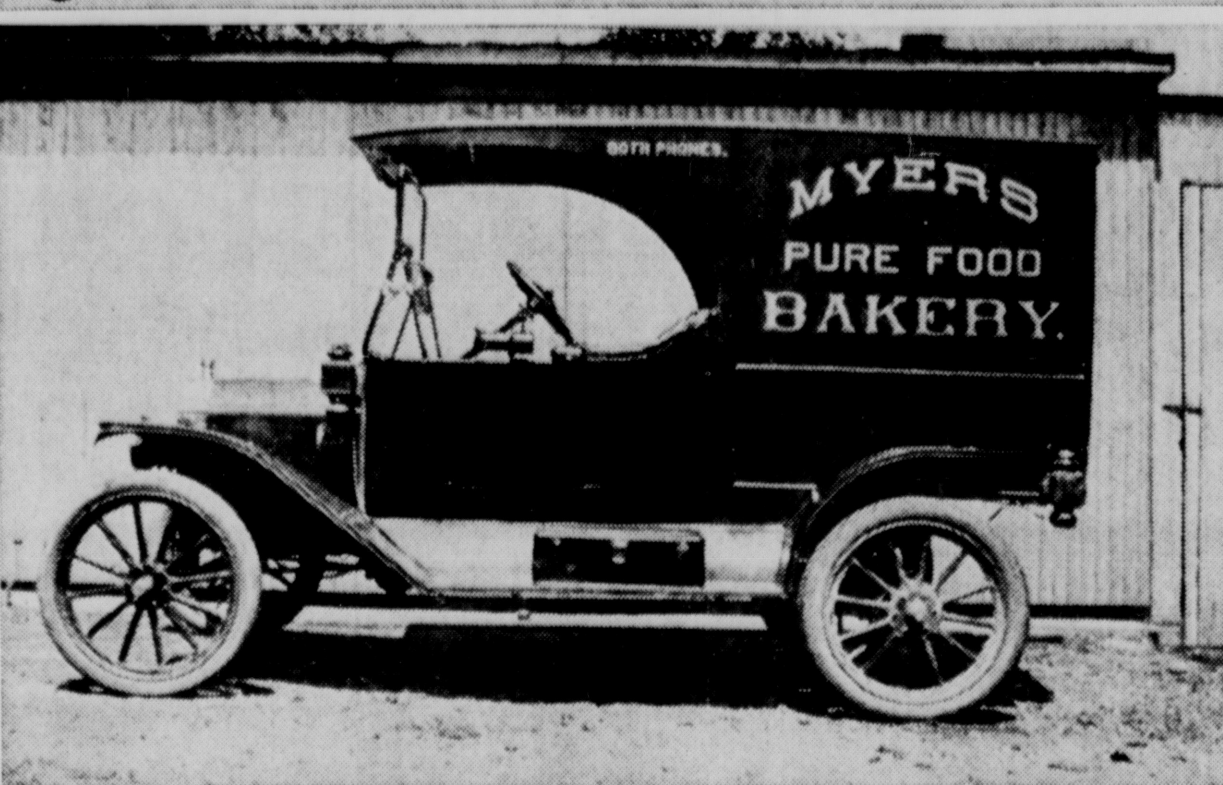

Some letter writers urge Mrs. Kennedy to have her new baby born in the White House itself. But she and the President, on advice of physicians, already have ruled that out and Mrs. Kennedy has a date the last week in August at Walter Reed Army Hospital here for a Caesarean delivery.

The White House says Mrs. Kennedy's mail continues to run an average of 300 letters a day.

The White House said most of the gifts will go to charitable institutions. A spokesman noted it is White House policy that the First Lady accept only those gifts "worth under $15."

French author Voltaire reportedly drank 50 cups of coffee a day when he was 80.

Starlight Has Jerry Lewis; North Features Love Story

By Richard L. Davis

"The Nutty Professor" starring Jerry Lewis in a dual role of an ivy league Jekyll and Hyde opens Sunday at the Starlight Cruise-In Theater with Cornel Wilde in a second feature, "Maracaibo."

Lewis as Professor Kelp, a chemistry professor, is the disgrace of the school faculty because he repeatedly blows up the laboratory in the course of his research and experiments.

The professor develops a potion whose chemical properties transform him into the kind of person he'd really like to be. He calls his new self "Buddy Love" and sets out to capture the imagination of a lovely co-ed who is his heart's desire.

Unknown to the professor, this charming student, played by Stella Stevens, has had a crush on him for a long time.

The dual roles of Kelp and Love give Jerry Lewis plenty of opportunity to display his great comic talent.

Filed in color, "The Nutty Professor" was shot almost entirely on the campus of Arizona State University.

A story of intense love and ambition set against the background of modern Japan is told in the Hal Wallis color production of "A Girl Named Tamiko" which opens at the North Auto Theater on Sunday.

The film stars Laurence Harvey, France Nuyen and Martha Hyer and co-stars Gary Merrill, Michael Wilding and Miyoshi Umeki.

Harvey portrays a Eurasian photographer fired with hatred of the Japanese and determination to emigrate to the United States. Because governmental restrictions continually delay approval of his visa, he employs every weapon at his disposal to pressure Embassy cooperation. His most effective ammunition is his personal magnetism to women, which leads to the heart-warming story of the three women who love him.

In addition to the bold and provocative story the film reflects the struggle taking place in Japan between those who cling to age old traditions and others who are influenced by Western materialism. It also provides an arm-chair tour of Japan's most exciting and picturesque places.

Paul and Ruth Spung and Gayle Hartley were at the campgrounds last week.

Salt Creek 4-H Club met Monday evening at the school.

Mrs. Raymond Metz, Mrs. Hazel Miller, Recie Williams, Sandra Jenkins, Gil Francis and Paula Shaeffer, all of Amanda, spent the past week with Mrs. Mowery at her cottage.

Mrs. Chloe Hiatt spent July 4 with relatives in Ashville.

The following spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. David Luckhart near Londonderry for a picnic in honor of birthdays of Marlon David and Kristal Kaye: Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Maxson, Mr. and Mrs. Donnie Maxson, and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ramon Maxson, and Eric, Max Luckhart, Dacia, Brent and Brad, Mrs. Josie Fox and Mrs. Nellie Mowery Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Luckhart.

The Friendship Class of the Tarlton Lutheran Church met Sunday evening entertained by the Francis Fraunfelder and the Jack Hatz families.
